and acquire the life of your dreams Life Lessons Ian James Shepherd, 2003-05 Life Lesson Number 324 Fire in the Hole I just wanted to humiliate myself one more time by telling you a funny story about what happened to me this weekend It was one of those situations where you think things can't get any worse but they do Let me set the background picture so you understand how and where this happened We have had VBS play practice at the church building every evening and every day for the last three weeks Sunday afternoon was no different We finished at about 4 00 PM which gave us just enough time to rush home to my favorite toilet you know the one that you're comfortable with and take care of business before returning to church There's no place like home there's no place like home So on arrival I rush into our little bathroom at home take care of business and sigh that sigh that we all sigh when that sense of great relief comes over us Now being the good husband that I am and under strict instructions from my wife as to toilet etiquette I reach down for a small decorative glass candle and a book of matches to light the incense fire I balance the small candle on my bare knee strike the match light the wick inside the glass and reaching down try to place the candle and matchbook on the floor At this point the candle slips flipping on its side Not a problem I reach down and flip it back up trying not to disturb the lovely decorative rope and flower ornaments around the candle I return to my relaxation and begin to read Problem When I had gently set the candle back in the upright position a small piece of string had accidentally ended up dangling about an inch and half over the candle flame High enough to not ignite immediately but long enough to lull me into a sense of relaxation The offending string then proceeds to ignite into a lovely blue flame about three inches high At this point I now have two open flames in the bathroom candlewick and string Problem I scream for help but no one hears me as the toilet door bathroom door and bedroom door are all shut It is like being in Maxwell Smart's cone of silence Since I knew that the combination of two open flames in a closed chamber filled with gas is not a good thing panic begins to set in Reaching down I grab the candle jar and bring it close to my face blowing as hard as I can to put out the string fire Problem Important safety tip Never I repeat never blow on a burning object with your pants down around your ankles Why Because small particles of burning debris tend to waft off and float downwards sending hot coals into your underwear and onto the what I perceive to be highly flammable toilet carpet So let me give you a visual recap of the situation at this point I now have fire in the candle fire on the string hot coals in my underwear and burning embers on the carpet around the toilet where I am still sitting Things could not get worse Problem After much huffing and blowing at the open flame the burning string finally goes out At this point a temporary sense of relief overcomes me as a crisis appears to have been averted Wrong There is still much smoke coming from the burning string and hot embers are still wafting away to do whatever damage they can In hindsight my next move was really questionable With the burning ember being so large and my hands full at that time the thought crossed my mind that I should lick my fingers and snuff out the burning string But I thought to myself you will burn your thumb and finger if you do that I then made a fateful choice I said to myself Just wad up a huge bundle of toilet paper and grab the wick The pressure will snuff out the ember since it will be in the middle of the paper and it won't flame up. Don't go there. I know, I know. So I grab the toilet roll, give it one mighty pull, and about six feet of paper hits the floor. I quickly do the lasso movement with my arm, wrapping the paper around my hand. I then crush.

A Road Map to Life Alton Williams, 2010-09-01 The Road Map for Life Ellen G. White, 2015 Create The Excitement In Life Florencio Serafin, 2021-05

What gives a person's life meaning is as unique to that person as their fingerprint. In order to live your own life, you must begin to identify and prioritize the things in your life that are the most meaningful to you. It is essential that you ask yourself if you are truly living the life you want to lead. Are you making your life choices based on your own wants, beliefs, and values? Or are you living your life based on the expectations of those around you and prescriptions you acquired in your past? In other words, whose life are you really living? This book will help you design roadmaps to affect their personal transformations and create new chapters in lives. This book takes the reader step by step through the author's seven steps to reinventing new chapters in your life. You will learn to reshape a healthier body and attitude, realign relationships that are out of sync, redirect your thought patterns towards the possibilities, rediscover the magic in your life, and remove lingering regrets, rewrite an exciting new chapter in your life, and enjoy the excitement that comes with revealing and living it.
