

3 Key Aspects Of The Paradox

1. It Contradicts Itself

A paradox is a statement that seems to contradict itself. It can be a statement that has two apparently contradictory meanings, or one that appears to be logically impossible but turns out not to be.

2. It Seems Absurd

Paradoxes have been defined as "statements or propositions which are seemingly absurd and contradictory".

In common usage, "paradox" usually implies some kind of conflict between assumptions.

3. Points Out Absurdity Of Life

Paradoxes are often used in literature and other art forms as a way of pointing out the absurdity of life and human nature.

They're also used as a way of challenging our beliefs or assumptions about how things work.

form the group have unique personalities and individual differences that contribute to the group process The second part is the group dynamic that is created Just as every individual is unique so are groups Every group forms a unique dynamic in which the group forces influence the individuals How an individual reacts to those forces contributes to the group decision making process and shapes the ultimate decision
