provides a thorough understanding of both foundational concepts and advanced methodologies. The book is divided into five key chapters. The first chapter outlines perspectives on educational assessment focusing on its philosophy, strategies and approaches. Chapter Two delves into measurement theories and models emphasising validity, reliability and scaling methods crucial for accurate assessment. Chapter Three categorises various types of educational evaluation such as diagnostic, curriculum, institutional programme and meta evaluation, providing clarity on their distinct purposes and applications. Chapter Four introduces an array of tools and techniques employed in educational assessment including questionnaires, standardised tests, portfolios and item banking alongside discussions on issues like test anxiety and guessing. The final chapter addresses pressing issues related to educational assessment including the role of evaluators, ethics, professional standards and the reporting of results. This comprehensive approach ensures that Educational Measurement, Assessment and Evaluation serves as a definitive guide enabling readers to apply sound evaluation principles and techniques with confidence and integrity across diverse educational settings.
