Measuring The Impact Of The Nonprofit Sector:

Measuring the Impact of the Nonprofit Sector Patrice Flynn, Virginia A. Hodgkinson, 2013-11-11 One of the major tasks facing researchers practitioners and funders is the development of empirical tools to measure the inherent worth of nonprofit organizations as well as the sector as a whole Renowned scholars present chapters on the state of the art of performance measurement in the nonprofit sector and seek to establish a framework for a long term research agenda to identify quantify and self assess those qualities that make the nonprofit sector unique

Measuring and Improving Social Impacts Marc J. Epstein, Kristi Yuthas, 2014-03-17 Philanthropic NGOs foundations and corporations face endlessly competing needs when deciding to invest or donate for maximum social impact This book fills an enormous gap by providing a system to measure operationalize and improve any organization s impact investments

Measuring the Networked Nonprofit Beth Kanter, Katie Delahaye Paine, 2012-10-05 The tools nonprofits need to measure the impact of their social media Having a social media measurement plan and approach can no longer be an after thought It is a requirement of success As nonprofits refine their social media practice their boards are expecting reports showing results As funders provide dollars to support programs that include social media they too want to see results This book offers the tools and strategies needed for nonprofits that need reliable and measurable data from their social media efforts Using these tools will not only improve a nonprofit s decision making process but will produce results driven metrics for staff and stakeholders A hands on resource for nonprofit professionals who must be able to accurately measure the results of their social media ventures Written by popular nonprofit blogger Beth Kanter and measurement expert Katie Delahaye Paine Filled with tools strategies and illustrative examples that are highly accessible for nonprofit professionals This important resource will give savvy nonprofit professionals the information needed to produce measurable results for their social media

Measuring Social Change Alnoor Ebrahim, 2019-07-16 The social sector is undergoing a major transformation We are witnessing an explosion in efforts to deliver social change a burgeoning impact investing industry and an unprecedented intergenerational transfer of wealth Yet we live in a world of rapidly rising inequality where social sector services are unable to keep up with societal need and governments are stretched beyond their means Alnoor Ebrahim addresses one of the fundamental dilemmas facing leaders as they navigate this uncertain terrain performance measurement How can they track performance towards worthy goals such as reducing poverty improving public health or advancing human rights What results can they reasonably measure and legitimately take credit for This book tackles three core challenges of performance faced by social enterprises and nonprofit organizations alike what to measure what kinds of performance systems to build and how to align multiple demands for accountability It lays out four different types of strategies for managers to consider niche integrated emergent and ecosystem and details the types of performance measurement and accountability systems best suited to each Finally this book examines the roles of funders such as impact investors philanthropic foundations and international aid agencies laying out how they can best enable meaningful performance measurement Benchmarking for Nonprofits Jason Saul, 2004-10-30 The no cost way to improve your organization on a daily basis Most nonprofits are already benchmarking informally This unique book defines a formal way to benchmark You ll learn how to prepare your organization measure performance and implement best practices as well as learning the five key steps of benchmarking the arguments against benchmarking and why you should disregard them how benchmarking differs from evaluation and assessment how to form a benchmarking team how to create a success equation that helps you measure your organization s performance how to make sure to measure what matters how to choose your benchmarking partners and what you can learn from the wrong partner and how to overcome staff resistance to benchmarking Practical tools help you benchmark what matters Real world examples illustrate benchmarking in action Exercises and worksheets guide you through processes such as drafting a benchmarking plan identifying and analyzing the things in your organization that need improvement prioritizing which processes to focus on identifying your CTQ critical to quality outcomes and more The way to survive as a nonprofit in today s market is to thrive With so many organizations seeking the same dollars only the best will endure Benchmarking ensures that your organization is always operating at peak performance It s something you can t afford not to do especially since you can do it for free

The Non-profit Sector in a Changing Economy ,2003 The non profit sector relates to a third system between the state and the market which has both social and economic objectives and is not bound by the redistribution of profits This publication reviews the key trends financing developments and challenges facing this growing and evolving sector in EU countries the United States Canada Mexico and Australia drawing on contributions from international experts and academics in the field of non profit sector studies Impacts Matter Charis Durden, 2013 This thesis project begins with a thorough examination of current literature concerning measuring organizational effectiveness and social impact in nonprofit organizations As an important topic in the third sector there are many different theories and methods found in research After surveying several popular techniques this thesis project developed an online survey and website utilizing the strongest methods in creating a single resource tool for nonprofit leaders to use in developing a metrics system Five respondents associated with different nonprofits in the Nashville area participated in the survey which began by placing the organization into one of four categories The categories were developed based on Ebrahim and Rangan s 2010 contingency framework Once the survey identified the type of organization it asked different questions to gather detailed data These answers were then used to generate a specialized metrics dashboard and logic model for each respondent Results show the survey was able to place organizations into the appropriate category but was unable to determine the effectiveness in gathering enough information to create an accurate metrics system for all types of nonprofit organizations Measuring Impact Sara Strickhouser, 2013 Research shows that since the mid 1990s funders of the nonprofit sector have significantly increased the sophistication of their reporting requirements Funders today want agencies to demonstrate beyond outputs and report on outcomes and the impact they have on the communities they serve Funders are monitoring community impact by requiring more complex reports from the agencies they fund These changes have meant that agencies must become proficient in data collection management and analyses practices in order to accurately respond to funders report requests Nonprofits however find these requirements difficult to conceptualize and even more difficult to attain Managing and analyzing the data necessary to create the required reports proves a formidable task This research shows that among many obstacles reported a lack of communication between agency and funders about their intended goals leads to some frustration from both sides ultimately making it exceptionally difficult to attain the ultimate goal of the new reporting requirements to measure community level impact This study utilizes qualitative interviews with 8 human service nonprofit agencies and one funding agency in the greater Orlando area to investigate what agencies report are their major obstacles when trying to meet funders new reporting requirements and what a funder s response to these concerns is Agency interviews were analyzed for the most common themes and concerns reported The interviews explore the way nonprofits are responding to the new requirements from donors and what they think could be done differently to better capture valuable data that would speak to issues at the community level

Mismeasuring Impact Nicole Marwell, Jennifer Mosley, 2025-07-15 The hidden dangers of randomized controlled trials The need to demonstrate the effectiveness of nonprofit social programs has led to a rapid rise in the use of randomized controlled trials RCTs for evaluation As a result most nonprofit sector professionals can tell you why nonprofits should do an RCT This book tells you why they probably shouldn t and what to do instead Mismeasuring Impact explores why RCTs are being embraced as the gold standard for nonprofit evaluation despite the high cost and time investment required and the serious problems with using RCTs in a nonprofit context Most RCTs conducted in nonprofits fail to meet required standards for rigor undercutting their accuracy The book describes what happens inside nonprofits when they take part in RCTs the unintended equity issues that arise and why nonprofits feel pressured participate in RCTs despite the problems University of Chicago professors Marwell and Mosley s research is based on extensive interviews with key players nonprofit managers professional program evaluators and program officers in philanthropic foundations The book argues that ultimately RCTs are used to poorly ground nonprofit legitimacy not to foster nonprofit improvement RCTs also privilege program and organizational standardization over the key strengths of nonprofit organizations flexible innovation and responsiveness to community needs Nonprofits and funders need forms of evaluation that lift up these strengths Mismeasuring Impact offers alternative approaches that build strong organizations not just cookie cutter programs and which funders and nonprofits of all sizes can support

The Making of Outcome Accountability in United Way Funding Requirements Jill Arlen Shannon, 2004

Nonprofit Organizations Facing Competition Cristiana Cicoria, 2006 For a long time it has been assumed that the search for profits was inseparable from the carrying on of an economic activity which could not be imagined absent the profit maximizing motive Nowadays the role of nonprofit organizations as economic actors operating in a competitive market is well recognized Therefore these organizations are no longer a priori excluded from the application of competition law The current United States European and German rules of competition however do not contain specific provisions for nonprofit market actors which are treated like other profit maximizing undertakings regardless of their social goals and nonprofit status In the attempt of filling this gap this study focuses on nonprofits infra sector competition Though a comparative cross country analysis the study discusses the legal and economic implications of the enforcement of competition law against nonprofit organizations and suggests some possible legal normative criteria which could facilitate the future applicability of these norms to not for profit entities The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy Tobias

Jung,Susan D. Phillips,Jenny Harrow,2016-05-17 Philanthropy the use of private resources for public purposes is undergoing a transformation both in practice and as an emerging field of study Expectations of what philanthropy can achieve have risen significantly in recent years reflecting a substantial but uneven increase in global wealth and the rolling back of state services in anticipation that philanthropy will fill the void In addition to this experiments with entrepreneurial and venture philanthropy are producing novel intersections of the public non profit and private spheres accompanied by new kinds of partnerships and hybrid organisational forms The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy examines these changes and other challenges that philanthropists and philanthropic organisations face With contributions from an international team of leading contemporary thinkers on philanthropy this Companion provides an introduction to and critical exploration of philanthropy discussing current theories research and the diverse professional practices within the field from a variety of disciplinary perspectives The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy is a rich and valuable resource for students researchers practitioners and policymakers working in or interested in philanthropy Bridges to Understanding Children's Museums Nina

Freedlander Gibans,1999 Documents the needs interests and concerns of major stakeholders in the children s museum movement Measuring the Impact of Volunteers Christine Burych,Alison Caird,Joanne Fine Schwebel,Michael Fliess,Heather Hardie,2016 A framework for nonprofit organizations government agencies and other volunteer involving groups to measure the effectiveness of volunteer involvement and ensure volunteer activities are aligned with the organization s strategic goals The authors adapt the balanced scorecard theory for performance measurement and strategic organizational planning developed by Robert Kaplan and David Norton in the early 1990s to the world of volunteer engagement They describe how volunteer management professionals can put in place the Volunteer Resources Balanced Scorecard VRBSc to meet the following objectives Ensure that the contribution of volunteers is aligned with the goals of the organization Identify a meaningful approach to measuring outcomes of volunteer participation Establish relevant reporting methods Promote greater understanding and support within organizations for professional management of volunteers based on recognized standards and best practices Corporate Social Responsibility and Sustainability Katarzyna

The aim of this book is to present selected theoretical and practical aspects of corporate social responsibility and sustainability with particular emphasis on the journey transition from values to impact. Values play an important role in business world and they shape the responsible approach of organizations. However, pressing and still unresolved challenges of the present day show evidently that there exist significant discrepancies between organizations' declarations on values and their real impact. COVID 19 pandemic, Globalization 4.0, climate catastrophe and challenges emphasized by SDGs constitute the new environment that contemporary organizations face. In effect, business is part of the problem and a solution as well. It is necessary to quickly and effectively push for action, taking into account the power of responsible business to co-create human life and environment. Both the theoretical considerations and the practice-based studies presented in this monograph make a significant contribution to the theory and practice of management. The book is an extension and enrichment of the existing knowledge in the field of socially responsible management in organizations. Corporate Social Responsibility and Sustainability will be of value to academics, researchers and advanced students in the fields of business and management, especially those interested in the intersection of management and CSR and sustainability and those focusing the impact that business activities have on the environment.

The Harvard Business School Guide to Careers in the Nonprofit Sector Stephanie Lowell, 2000. Guiding MBAs into the Nonprofit Sector. As interest in nonprofit sector careers grows among MBA students and MBAs further along in their careers, the number of interesting opportunities and the need for MBA skills in this sector also continues to spiral upward. Yet MBA students and alums have experienced frustration with the job search process in this field. The Harvard Business School Guide to Careers in the Nonprofit Sector is a great resource for newly minted MBAs and alums interested in entering the nonprofit sector, whether as full-time managers, board members or volunteers. Tapping the career histories of thirty-four Harvard Business School alums who have carved out successful and personally rewarding lives in the nonprofit sector, Stephanie Lowell has created a resource that is both inspirational and practical. Topics covered include nonprofit subsector overviews with descriptions of key roles and positions for MBAs, the pros and cons of a nonprofit career, managing expectations, salary expectations, cultural differences, the job search process as it applies to nonprofits, an extensive bibliography of resources. Reflecting the depth and breadth of the nonprofit sector, the HBS Guide covers management careers in arts and culture, community economic development, education, environment, foundations, government, health care, international aid and economic development, social services, social purpose businesses, and socially responsible business, corporate community relations.
