Pamela Herself:

Pamela Herself Desmond Coke,1922      Making Gender, Culture, and the Self in the Fiction of Samuel Richardson Bonnie Latimer,2016-05-13 Proposing that Samuel Richardson's novels were crucial for the construction of female individuality in the mid eighteenth century Bonnie Latimer shows that Richardson's heroines are uniquely conceived as individuals who embody the agency and self determination implied by that term In addition to placing Richardson within the context of his own culture recouping for contemporary readers the influence of Grandison on later writers including Maria Edgeworth Sarah Scott and Mary Wollstonecraft is central to her study Latimer argues that Grandison has been unfairly marginalised in favor of Clarissa and Pamela and suggests that a rigorous rereading of the novel not only provides a basis for reassessing significant aspects of Richardson's fictional oeuvre but also has implications for fresh thinking about the eighteenth century novel Latimer's study is not a specialist study of Grandison but rather a reconsideration of Richardson's novelistic canon that places Grandison at its centre as Richardson's final word on his reenvisioning of the gendered self

Dress, Distress and Desire J. Batchelor,2005-05-11 Dress Distress and Desire explores representations of sartorial experience in eighteenth century literature Batchelor's study brings together for the first time canonical and non canonical texts including novels conduct books and women's magazines to investigate the pressures that the growth of the fashion market placed on conceptions of female virtue and propriety It shows how dress dispelled the sentimental myth that the body acted as a moral index and enabled the women reader to resist some of sentimental literature's more prescriptive advice
