Panic Broadcast Portrait Of An Event:

The Panic Broadcast Howard Koch,1973      The panic broadcast Howard Koch,1970      The Medium and the Magician Paul Heyer,2005 Few twentieth century artists are renowned in such a variety of media as Orson Welles Well known for his work in film and theater as director actor and writer Welles s influence in the field of radio has often been overlooked for the more glamorous entertainment of his movies The Medium and the Magician is a comprehensive review of Welles s radio career devoted to assessing his radio artistry and influence in the field Paul Heyer offers a new look at the infamous War of the Worlds panic broadcast and a discussion of how Welles s use of sound in radio influenced his motion pictures      The Panic Broadcast Howard Koch,1973      Projecting Tomorrow James Chapman,Nicholas J. Cull,2013-01-30 Cinema and science fiction were made for each other Science fiction has been at the cutting edge of film technology and the genre has produced some of the most ambitious imaginative and visually spectacular films ever made Yet science fiction cinema is about more than just state of the art special effects It has also provided a vehicle for film makers and writers to comment on their own societies and cultures In this new study of the genre James Chapman and Nicholas Cull examine a series of landmark science fiction films from the 1930s to the present They include genre classics including Things to Come Forbidden Planet Planet of the Apes and 2001 A Space Odyssey alongside modern blockbusters Star Wars and Avatar They consider both screen originals and adaptations of the work of major science fiction authors such as H G Wells and Arthur C Clarke They range widely across the genre from pulp adventure and space opera to political allegory and speculative documentary there is even a science fiction musical Chapman and Cull explore the contexts and document the production histories of each film to show how they made their way to the screen and why they turned out the way they did Informed throughout by extensive original research in US and British archives Projecting Tomorrow will be essential reading for all students and fans of science fiction cinema      Dead Air William Elliott Hazelgrove,2024-11-19 On Halloween Eve 1938 Orson Welles put on a radio play of War of the Worlds and terrorized an uneasy American public on the brink of World War II perpetuating the greatest hoax in history and changing media forever Dead Air brings to life this fateful night and follows the life and career of Welles before and after the historic broadcast      The Nazi Menace Benjamin Carter Hett,2020-08-04 A fast moving absorbing account of the years leading up to WWII a tale of democratic crisis racial conflict and a belated recognition of evil New York Times Book Review Thought provokingly Hett notes that commonalities between the 1930s and today he suggests that lessons learned by dealing with the Nazi regime could be applied today This compelling work is highly recommended for those interested in World War II or in the history of fascism Library Journal Berlin November 1937 Adolf Hitler meets with his military commanders to impress upon them the urgent necessity for a war of aggression in eastern Europe Some generals are unnerved by the Führer s grandiose plan but these dissenters are silenced one by one setting in motion events that will culminate in the most calamitous war in history Benjamin Carter Hett takes us behind the scenes in Berlin London Moscow and Washington revealing the unsettled politics within each country in the wake of the German dictator s growing provocations He reveals the fitful path by which anti Nazi forces inside and outside Germany came to understand Hitler s true menace to European civilization and learned to oppose him painting a sweeping portrait of governments under siege as larger than life figures struggled to turn events to their advantage As in The Death of Democracy his acclaimed history of the fall of the Weimar Republic Hett draws on original sources and newly released documents to show how these long ago conflicts have unexpected resonances in our own time To read The Nazi Menace is to see past and present in a new and unnerving light A timely reminder that democracies are fragile creatures Giles Milton host of the Unknown History podcast A remarkable authoritative journey with deft writing keen insight and moments of narrative thrill Neal Bascomb New York Times bestselling author Narrative history at its gripping best Henry Hemming author of Four Shots in the Night Gazette ,1972 More Creative Uses of Children's Literature Mary Ann Paulin,1992 To cover the immense publishing explosion of children s books films and other media for the 1980s Mary Ann Pauline has created an encyclopedic set of volumes to complement and update her celebrated book Creative Uses of Children s Literature

Understanding Modern Media Judy Azeveda,Alene M. Margolies,Jerry D. Reynolds,1978 Dying Planet Robert Markley,2005-09-08 For more than a century Mars has been at the center of debates about humanity s place in the cosmos Focusing on perceptions of the red planet in scientific works and science fiction Dying Planet analyzes the ways Mars has served as a screen onto which humankind has projected both its hopes for the future and its fears of ecological devastation on Earth Robert Markley draws on planetary astronomy the history and cultural study of science science fiction literary and cultural criticism ecology and astrobiology to offer a cross disciplinary investigation of the cultural and scientific dynamics that have kept Mars on front pages since the 1800s Markley interweaves chapters on science and science fiction enabling him to illuminate each arena and to explore the ways their concerns overlap and influence one another He tracks all the major scientific developments from observations through primitive telescopes in the seventeenth century to data returned by the rovers that landed on Mars in 2004 Markley describes how major science fiction writers H G Wells Kim Stanley Robinson Philip K Dick Edgar Rice Burroughs Ray Bradbury Robert Heinlein and Judith Merrill responded to new theories and new controversies He also considers representations of Mars in film on the radio and in the popular press In its comprehensive study of both science and science fiction Dying Planet reveals how changing conceptions of Mars have had crucial consequences for understanding ecology on Earth Persuasion Sharon Shavitt,Timothy C. Brock,1994 This text is designed to make the psychology of persuasion accessible to the non specialist or non scientist It includes an introduction to the subject followed by an examination of issues of definition and measurement and basic theory and research

Principles, Elements, and Types of Persuasion James Benjamin,1997 In this text the author emphasizes practical applications as students master the research and theories of persuasion By acknowledging that both rhetorical and behavioral theories contribute to the understanding of persuasion this text blends production and consumption of persuasion

The Information Revolution and Ireland Lee Komito, 2004 This book focuses on issues arising from the technological revolution that we are all experiencing It is not intended to be an exhaustive or definitive discussion of the digital revolution or the Information Society nor does it proclaim or denounce the new Information Society However whether there is a new economic political and social order emerging or not and whether the new order is beneficial or detrimental to citizens all agree that significant changes are taking place Often it seems as though we are all bystanders watching change take place but having very little participation in the process The central issue in this book is that technology including the new information and communications technology linked with the Information Society is not a force external to society and beyond the control of society it is an integral part of society Komito does not try to predict the future his aim is to encourage individuals to contribute to policy choices so that the society that emerges is one that citizens desire rather than one that is not of their making or choosing He encourages discussion and thought rather than proclaiming conclusions By using Irish examples the book will be of especial value on Information Studies courses for Irish students but by dealing with global issues in a highly readable way this book will be applicable to courses elsewhere

Cultures in Orbit Lisa Parks, 2005 In 1957 Sputnik the world's first man made satellite dazzled people as it zipped around the planet By the beginning of the twenty first century more than eight thousand satellites orbited the Earth and satellite practices such as live transmission direct broadcasting remote sensing and astronomical observation had altered how we imagined ourselves in relation to others and our planet within the cosmos In Cultures in Orbit Lisa Parks analyzes these satellite practices and shows how they have affected meanings of the global and the televisual Parks suggests that the convergence of broadcast satellite and computer technologies necessitates an expanded definition of television one that encompasses practices of military monitoring and scientific observation as well as commercial entertainment and public broadcasting Roaming across the disciplines of media studies geography and science and technology studies Parks examines uses of satellites by broadcasters military officials archaeologists and astronomers She looks at Our World a live intercontinental television program that reached five hundred million viewers in 1967 and Imparja tv an Aboriginal satellite tv network in Australia Turning to satellites remote sensing capabilities she explores the U S military's production of satellite images of the war in Bosnia as well as archaeologists use of satellites in the excavation of Cleopatra's palace in Alexandria Egypt Parks's reflections on how Western fantasies of control are implicated in the Hubble telescope's views of outer space point to a broader concern that while satellite uses promise a global village they also cut and divide the planet in ways that extend the hegemony of the post industrial West In focusing on such contradictions Parks highlights how satellites cross paths with cultural politics and social struggles

Mexican Modernity Rubén Gallo, 2005 In Mexican Modernity Ruben Gallo tells the story of a second Mexican Revolution a battle fought on the front of cultural representation The new revolutionaries were not rebels or outlaws but artists and writers their weapons were cameras typewriters radios and other technological artifacts and their goal was not to topple a dictator but to dethrone nineteenth century aesthetics Gallo tells the story of this other revolution by focusing on five artifacts that left a deep mark on the literature and the arts of the 1920s and 1930s the camera and its novel techniques for seeing the modern world the typewriter and its mechanization of literary aesthetics radio and poetic experiments with wireless communication cement architecture and its celebration of functional internationalism and the stadium and its deployment as a mass medium for political spectacle Gallo traces the ways artists and writers armed with these artifacts revolutionized representation by breaking with the traditional modes of production that had dominated Mexican cultural practices Tina Modotti rose against the conventions of artistic photography by promoting a radically modern photographic aesthetics typewriting authors rejected the literary precepts of modernismo to celebrate the stridencies of mechanical writing and young architects abandoned older building materials for the symbolic strength of reinforced concrete Gallo uncovers a secret history of Mexican modernity that includes a number of fascinating episodes the pictorialist backlash against Modotti and Edward Weston the postcolonial Remingtont typewriter Mexican radio in the North Po the campaign to aestheticize cement through journals and artistic competitions and the protofascist political spectacles held at Mexico City s National Stadium in the 1920s      Developing Basic Skills Programs in Secondary Schools Daisy G.
