Nature Of Grief The Evolution And Psychology Of Reactions To Loss:

The Nature of Grief John Archer,2003-09-02 The Nature of Grief is a provocative new study on the evolution of grief Most literature on the topic regards grief either as a psychiatric disorder or illness to be cured In contrast to this John Archer shows that grief is a natural reaction to losses of many sorts even to the death of a pet and he proves this by bringing together material from evolutionary psychology ethology and experimental psychology This innovative new work will be required reading for developmental and clinical psychologists and all those in the caring professions

Stroebe, 2008 In this state of the art volume leading international scholars and clinicians provide a comprehensive and cross disciplinary overview of how rigorous research on bereavement translates into practice They identify new developments and controversies in the field relating new theories to concepts from attachment theory and emotion theory The effects of societal change and of national and international events on personal and public mourning are examined along with other areas of interest to practitioners such as grief and disaster posttraumatic growth and cultural competence in helping diverse clients cope with grief and bereavement New analyses use longitudinal data sets to trace patterns of adjustment trajectories of grieving over time and the use of coping resources The contributors also explore emerging research on the consequences of losing a loved one disenfranchised grieving continuing bonds and other critical areas Researchers and practitioners will find much to enrich and deepen their work in this thought provoking volume Cover PsycINFO Database Record c 2012 APA all rights reserved Natural Selection and the

Manifestations of Low Mood and Depression Matthew C. Keller,2004 Mourning, Modernism, Postmodernism Tammy Clewell,2009-10-22

Mourning Modernism Postmodernism illuminates the emergence of a fundamentally new way of thinking and writing about loss in the twentieth century novel one that spurns consolation and the conventional aim of closure

Inaugurated in the modernist novel the rejection of consolation manages to promote a politically progressive politics of mourning The modernist novel established as well the terms of a new mourning practice terms whose democratizing aims would be challenged in the late modernist period but ultimately reanimated and reworked by postmodern writers In challenging the familiar view of modernist aesthetics as removed from social concerns and of postmodernist aesthetics as a self reflexive language game incapable of representing affirmative content Mourning Modernism Postmodernism demonstrates how novelists of some of the most experimental fiction of the century engage the open ended aspects of loss to imagine new forms of identity and social change Spousal Bereavement in Late Life Randolph M. Nesse, MD,Camille B.
