David Bath,2020-03-15 Assured Destruction Building the Ballistic Missile Culture of the U S Air Force documents the rapid development of nuclear ballistic missiles in the United States and their equally swift demise after the Cuban Missile Crisis revealing how these drastic changes negatively influenced both the Air Force and the missile community David W Bath contends that the struggle to create and control nuclear ballistic missiles threatened both the dominance of the United States during an intensifying Cold War and the strategic airpower mission of the newly created Air Force The book details the strenuous efforts required to create and prepare a missile arsenal before the Cuban Missile Crisis which occurred only five years after the first missile was declared operational It uses the personal recollections of former missileers and the professional military education theses they wrote to highlight some of the concerns that have faced the missileers who operated and worked on these powerful weapons from 1957 to the present The highlight of the book however is the personal stories of the missileers who served during the missile crisis revealing the efforts that they went to in order to prepare these unique and untried weapons for what many thought might become the third world war New York Libraries. a Quarterly Devoted to the Interests of the Libraries of the State ,1915 Boston Directory ,1856 The Boston Directory ,1856

Serials in the British Library ,2001 The USS Carondelet Myron J. Smith, Jr.,2010-04-13 The USS Carondelet had a revolutionary ship design and was the most active of all the Union's Civil War river ironclads From Fort Henry through the siege of Vicksburg and from the Red River campaign through the Battle of Nashville the gunboat was prominent in war legend and literature This history draws on the letters of Ensign Scott Dyer Jordan and Rear Adm Henry Walke's memoirs
