Navies And Arms Control:

Navies and Arms Control George H. Quester, 1980      Security at Sea Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 1990 Since the Second World War five navies are known to have acquired nuclear weapons and naval forces and activities around the world have become increasingly important and dangerous However there has been no serious consideration of naval arms control for more than forty years SIPRI gathered together a group of experts from eight nations to consider the problems of naval forces and the possibilities for arms control This book is a product of that conference and it presents for the first time a broad and detailed assessment of the dangers of the naval arms race problems with arms control possible approaches confidence building measures and verification technologies      Superpowers at Sea Richard W. Fieldhouse, Shunji Taoka, 1989 The arms race at sea is a dangerous nuclear race which is causing growing international concern and must be brought under control What are the hard facts about the situation This book documents the realities of the competition especially the nuclearization of naval forces and dispels some of the myths surrounding the naval arms race This incisive analysis of naval forces of the East and West concludes that contrary to common perceptions the US and its allies have a considerable military advantage over the Soviet Navy a trend which is expected to continue for the foreseeable future The authors describe in detail the widespread nuclearization of naval forces of all five nuclear navies analyse the implications for security and arms control and conclude with suggestions for possible arms control measures      Navies and Arms Control George H. Quester, 1980      Arms Control At Sea J Richard Hill, 2024-04-01 Originally published in 1989 this book reviews the history of maritime control measures from before the First World War and provides a critical examination of both the objectives of maritime power and the concepts of disarmament peace zones parity verifiability and peaceful co existence It argues that the objectives of maritime power are not necessarily incompatible with international security and that strategic deterrence can contribute to improved security Limitation measures it is argued can in some cases be double edged endangering other security fields and having a destabilizing effect The book stresses the need for non absolute solutions in order to achieve a reasonable level of security and makes proposals for both structural and confidence building measures along those lines      Naval Arms Control Ronald G. Purver, Canadian Institute for International Peace and Security, 1991 One area virtually untouched by recent progress in arms control is that of naval arms This document examines why naval forces have largely escaped constraints It discusses the record of past attempts at naval arms control and why progress has been so slow It looks at the prospects for future negotiated measures and whether some areas of naval arms control hold more promise than others      Naval Arms Control Sverre Lodgaard, 1990-11 Naval Arms Control examines the context for naval arms control in the ongoing restructuring of East West relations Current changes in naval force postures are reviewed and a special analysis is made of military developments in Northern waters Aims approaches and procedures of naval arms control are presented and discussed making clear the choice between negotiated arms control and unilateral changes of naval strategy The book also presents specific proposals making the arguments for and against clear and discussing them in relation to naval forces in general and to nuclear weapons at sea

Ways Out Of The Arms Race: From The Nuclear Threat To Mutual Security - Proceedings Of The Second International Scientists' Congress Tom Kibble, John F Hassard, Patricia Lewis, 1989-11-01 This congress gathers together scientists from all over the world to analyse the problems of and possible solutions to the arms race Speakers A Arbatov E Ash V Baranovsky P De k H P D rr S Elworthy R Ennals R Fieldhouse R Forsberg V Gamba Stonehouse R Garwin V Goldanskii F Heisbourg F von Hippel D Hodgkin S Kapitza T Kibble A Lecocq P Lewis S Lunn R McNamara S Oznobischev J Pike R Rilling J Rotblat R Sagdeev M Schmidt J Sharp P Smoker P Starlinger J A Stein K Subrahmanyam T Taylor M B Theorin J Thompson R Trapp C Vo te Peace And Disarmament Richard Fanning, 2014-10-17 Arms control remains a major international issue as the twentieth century closes but it is hardly a new concern The effort to limit military power has enjoyed recurring support since shortly after World War I when the United States Britain and Japan sought naval arms control as a means to insure stability in the Far East contain naval expenditure and prevent another world cataclysm Richard Fanning examines the efforts of American British and Japanese leaders political military and social to reach agreement on naval limitation between 1922 and the mid 1930s with focus on the years 1927 30 when political leaders statesmen naval officers and various civilian pressure groups were especially active in considering naval limits The civilian and even some military actors believed the Great War had been an aberration and that international stability would reign in the near future But the coming of the Great Depression brought a dramatic drop in concern for disarmament This study based on a wide variety of unpublished sources compares the cultural underpinnings of the disarmament movement in the three countries especially the effects of public opinion through examination of the many peace groups that played an important role in the disarmament process The decision to strive for arms control he finds usually resulted from peace group pressure and political expediency For anyone interested in naval history this book illuminates the beginnings of the arms limitation effort and the growth of the peace movement

The DISAM Journal of International Security Assistance Management ,1994 Strategic Review ,1990 dedicated to the advancement and understanding of those principles and practices military and political which serve the vital security interests of the United States

Navies in Violent Peace James Cable, 1989-07-24 A study of the political utility of navies not only in past wars and possible future wars but also in the violent peace of the modern era It looks at their use in gunboat diplomacy showing the flag policing coastlines and tackling pirates and terrorists Naval arms control is also discussed

A New Case for Naval Arms Control James John Tritten, 1992 This paper opens with an examination of existing legal restraints on naval forces and arms control agreements and concludes that the U S is already heavily engaged in naval arms control Given the new international security environment and the new U S regionally oriented national security and military strategies the author then recommends a series of additional naval arms control measures that should be taken exchanges of data transparency INCSEA cooperative measures an agreement on the laws of submarine warfare abolishing NCND no first tactical nuclear use at sea NWFZs advanced notification of operational level exercises environmental protection measures controls over maritime technologies armed escorts of nuclear shipments new Roes PALs the resolution of outstanding political issues at sea deep cuts in nuclear forces CFE follow on limits on specific types of naval forces geographic limits expanded standing naval forces and a re negotiation of the ABM Treaty The paper then addresses verification and compliance issues Author concludes that since the U S Navy has already managed to avoid major arms control while balanced on the precarious slippery slope there is no reason to continue its stonewalling policies Controlling Latin American Conflicts Michael A. Morris, 2019-03-04 Latin America remains a turbulent region characterized by conflict and increased militarization despite the existence of regional juridical mechanisms for controlling disputes In this book scholars from both Latin and North America collaborate in presenting ten original approaches to containing and resolving conflict in the region Stressing the need to closely link contemporary approaches to conflict management with the Latin American legalistic tradition they examine a broad scope of mechanisms ranging from confidence building measures to arms control agreements This book is the first systematic attempt to survey arms control and to generate approaches for controlling conflicts in Latin America Ten original approaches to containing and resolving conflict in Latin America are developed in the successive chapters of this volume Confidence-building in the North Pacific Barry M. Tritten, 2019-06-26 Based on formal content analysis of the writings of Admiral Sergei G Gorshkov and past Soviet ministers of defense and heads of the Politburo James J Tritten interprets what the Soviets say they will do in the event of nuclear war He then constructs a hardware and exercise analysis of the strategic employment of the Soviet Navy in a nuclear war offering three possible cases the a bolt from the blue with existing forces on patrol full mobilization and a plausible case of partial mobilization In addition Dr Tritten examines from a Soviet perspective concepts of deterrence the strategic goals and missions of the fleet nuclear targeting policy the Sea Lines of Communication SLOC disruption mission and the potential for tactical nuclear warfare limited to the sea The author concludes by assessing the implications of Soviet politico military planning for Western defense strategy and arms control
