Natural History Verse An Anthology:

Natural History Verse A. G. DICKENS, 1988      Natural History Verse Gerry Cotter, 1988 An anthology of nature poetry mainly from the 19th century onwards The poems are divided into categories illustrating how styles have changed from the poetry of the Romantics to the realism of the 20th century      The natural history and antiquities of Selborne, ed. with an intr. and notes by L.C. Miall and W.W. Fowler Gilbert White, 1901      The Earth on Show Ralph O'Connor, 2008-09-15 At the turn of the nineteenth century geology and its claims that the earth had a long and colorful prehuman history was widely dismissed as dangerous nonsense But just fifty years later it was the most celebrated of Victorian sciences Ralph O Connor tracks the astonishing growth of geology's prestige in Britain exploring how a new geohistory far more alluring than the standard six days of Creation was assembled and sold to the wider Bible reading public Shrewd science writers O Connor shows marketed spectacular visions of past worlds piquing the public imagination with glimpses of man eating mammoths talking dinosaurs and sea dragons spawned by Satan himself These authors including men of science women clergymen biblical literalists hack writers blackmailers and prophets borrowed freely from the Bible modern poetry and the urban entertainment industry creating new forms of literature in order to transport their readers into a vanished and alien past In exploring the use of poetry and spectacle in the promotion of popular science O Connor proves that geology's success owed much to the literary techniques of its authors An innovative blend of the history of science literary criticism book history and visual culture The Earth on Show rethinks the relationship between science and literature in the nineteenth century      Athenaeum and Literary Chronicle James Silk Buckingham, John Sterling, Frederick Denison Maurice, Henry Stebbing, Charles Wentworth Dilke, Thomas Kibble Hervey, William Hepworth Dixon, Norman Maccoll, Vernon Horace Rendall, John Middleton Murry, 1898      The Athenaeum, 1919      Who's who Among North American Authors, 1929      The Nation and Athenæum, 1923      The United States Catalog, 1921      Women Poets in the Victorian Era Fabienne Moine, 2016-03-09 Examining the place of nature in Victorian women's poetry Fabienne Moine explores the work of canonical and long neglected women poets to show the myriad connections between women and nature during the period At the same time she challenges essentialist discourses that assume innate affinities between women and the natural world Rather Moine shows Victorian women poets mobilised these alliances to defend common interests and express their engagement with social issues While well known poets such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Christina Rossetti are well represented in Moine's study she pays particular attention to lesser known writers such as Mary Howitt or Eliza Cook who were popular during their lifetimes or Edith Nesbit whose verse has received scant critical attention so far She also brings to the fore the poetry of many non professional poets Looking to their immediate cultural environments for inspiration these women reconstructed the natural world in poems that raise questions about the validity and the scope of representations of nature ultimately questioning or undermining social practices that mould and often fossilise cultural identities
