Nature Strikes Back:

LOCKDOWN Devisetty N Ravishankar,2020-07-13 Lockdown is a collection of poems that took shape during the lockdown period starting from March 2020 The poems bring out the spirit of humanity in these times and it attempts to address the various people and events that are currently underway Apart from expressions on the people in the frontline like doctors nurses sanitary workers etc there are other poems on social distancing masks and other general topics on nature mindfulness family etc which will give the reader a choice to experience the inner motives of the author It will also provide the reader an opportunity to think about the issues and draw his or her conclusions that matter in life Fear and Nature Christy Tidwell,Carter Soles,2021-05-10 Ecohorror represents human fears about the natural world killer plants and animals catastrophic weather events and disquieting encounters with the nonhuman Its portrayals of animals the environment and even scientists build on popular conceptions of zoology ecology and the scientific process As such ecohorror is a genre uniquely situated to address life art and the dangers of scientific knowledge in the Anthropocene Featuring new readings of the genre Fear and Nature brings ecohorror texts and theories into conversation with other critical discourses The chapters cover a variety of media forms from literature and short fiction to manga poetry television and film The chronological range is equally varied beginning in the nineteenth century with the work of Edgar Allan Poe and finishing in the twenty first with Stephen King and Guillermo del Toro This range highlights the significance of ecohorror as a mode In their analyses the contributors make explicit connections across chapters question the limits of the genre and address the ways in which our fears about nature intersect with those we hold about the racial animal and bodily other A foundational text this volume will appeal to specialists in horror studies Gothic studies the environmental humanities and ecocriticism In addition to the editors the contributors include Kristen Angierski Bridgitte Barclay Marisol Cortez Chelsea Davis Joseph K Heumann Dawn Keetley Ashley Kniss Robin L Murray Brittany R Roberts Sharon Sharp and Keri Stevenson Biotechnology and the Integrity of Life Michael Hauskeller,2016-04-15 There are things that can be done and are done to life on earth whether it be human animal or plant life which even if they do not involve or produce any suffering are still considered morally wrong by a large proportion of the public Such things include changing the nature of living beings by means of genetic engineering in order to enhance their health or more likely with animals and plants their utility or impairing their ability to live autonomously or unduly instrumentalizing them Yet many scientists are puzzled about the unwillingness of the public to feel much enthusiasm about a technology that in their view promises great benefits to humans and does not seem to cause more harm to animals than other practices which most of us do not question at all In this book Michael Hauskeller takes public fears seriously and offers the idea of biological integrity as a clarifying principle which can then be analyzed to show that seemingly irrational public concerns about genetic engineering are not so irrational after all and that a philosophically sound justification of those concerns can indeed be given Living with an Infected Planet Elke Krasny,2023-05-09 We must declare war on the virus stated UN chief António Guterres on March 13 2020 just two days after the WHO had characterized the outbreak of the novel Covid 19 virus as a pandemic Elke Krasny introduces feminist worry in order then to develop a feminist cultural theory on pandemic frontline ontologies which give rise to militarized care essentialism and forced heroism Feminist hope is gained through the attentive reading of feminist recovery plans and their novel care feminism with the latter's insistence that recovery from patriarchy is possible Exploitation and Overexploitation in Societies Past and Present Brigitta Benzing, Bernd Herrmann, 2003 Human impact on landscape can be conceptualised in terms of socially governed ecological systems In the past the adaptive capacity of human cultural systems has been emphasised Nowadays a shift can be recognised towards modified views Resources are discussed as prerequisites for establishing complex human societies This includes also a more biologically minded view from the standpoint of the humanities In such a view human societal complexes can be understood as systems that manage energy and matters The concept of social metabolic regimes has developed in such a context Cultures as seen within this paradigm are not understood merely as autopoietic symbolic entities but as results of an interaction of material prerequisites and emerging social structures One might dismiss this as an epistemological shift part of the play of science with itself But it remains unsolved so far in terms of evolutionary theory if the ultimate goal of evolution is reproductive success or access

Resource Depletion Lesa Griffith, 1995 Enacting Nature Birgit Däwes, Marc Maufort, 2014 This volume explores the multi-faceted semantics of ecology in contemporary Indigenous theater and performance It focuses on the ways in which Indigenous playwrights from North America and Oceania depict the human link with Nature in today's global age
