

A hand is holding a bright yellow rectangular sign in the center of the frame. The sign has the words "SELF" and "HELP" written in large, bold, black capital letters, one above the other. The background is a blurred image of a library with rows of bookshelves filled with books of various colors. The perspective is looking down the aisles of the library, with a blue skylight visible at the top.

Confidence Culture Shani Orgad, Rosalind Gill, 2021-12-06 In Confidence Culture Shani Orgad and Rosalind Gill argue that imperatives directed at women to love your body and believe in yourself imply that psychological blocks rather than entrenched social injustices hold women back Interrogating the prominence of confidence in contemporary discourse about body image workplace relationships motherhood and international development Orgad and Gill draw on Foucault's notion of technologies of self to demonstrate how confidence culture demands of women near constant introspection and vigilance in the service of self-improvement They argue that while confidence messaging may feel good it does not address structural and systemic oppression Rather confidence culture suggests that women along with people of color the disabled and other marginalized groups are responsible for their own conditions Rejecting confidence culture's remaking of feminism along individualistic and neoliberal lines Orgad and Gill explore alternative articulations of feminism that go beyond the confidence imperative
