

Good Morning!

When the day sweeps
Away the last drop of darkness,
Aurora with her cool breath,
Gently rising to her duties,
And with the sun as her companion,
Drizzling light into dark corners,
It reminds the nursing mother
Of the child who interrupted sleep last night,
It touches the heart of the caring father

Still working on their unfinished home,
And alerts the poet of his unfinished verse
Of a dirge, whose theme is nothing but death.

But isn't it amazing,
How our minds are occupied
By rainbow dreams that spark across the sky,
That must be true at rainbow's end.
A waiting port of gold
Every nerve dances in anticipation!

Yet for me, every morning brings,
Such a melancholy joy
But perhaps you understand,
For it sprinkles fresh hope to the boy
While slowly, pushing him to his grave.
But as long as life endures,
And the sun continues to shine,
Surely every morning,
is a good morning!

Morning Poems:

Morning Poems Robert Bly, 2009-10-06 The first book of poems in eight years by this major American poet. The title of this collection was inspired by the way they were written. Each morning Robert Bly sits down and writes a poem. The results are among his finest work, shimmering with images and alive with feeling and ideas. Bly writes in very simple language using commonplace words and events to cut to the heart of things. Many of the poems in this collection are about writing poetry and the work of an author, e.g., Rewriting Poetry and Wanting More Applause at a Conference. There is a large group of poems about his boyhood on a Minnesota farm, including What the Animals Paid and A Family Picture. Bly also returns to one of the major themes of his work: how archetypal myths and stories shape our world, in a section of poems on stories such as We're All In This Story. He addresses age-old issues such as the relationship between fathers and sons, dealing with getting older and facing death in a very personal way.

Good Morning and Good Night David Wagoner, 2010-10-01 By continually discovering what's new in each day without forgetting yesterday's surprises, David Wagoner has succeeded in constantly expanding his range in a career that spans more than fifty years. In Good Morning and Good Night, this range includes his usual rich forays into nature and personalities and poetry for all ages, young and old, amidst a vivid array of memories and explorations. Readers will find homages to the poets that have inspired him as well as the bountiful lyricism that has made Wagoner's poetry one of our most enduring sources of delight and joy. Good Morning and Good Night features poems previously published in American Poetry Review, The American Scholar, Atlantic Monthly, Hudson Review, The Kenyon Review, New Letters, The New Republic, Poetry, Shenandoah, Southern Review, The Yale Review, and other leading literary journals.

Some Glad Morning Barbara Crooker, 2019-10-01 Some Glad Morning Barbara Crooker's ninth book of poetry teeters between joy and despair, faith and doubt, the disconnect between lived experience and the written word. Primarily a lyric poet, Crooker is in love with the beauty and mystery of the natural world, even as she recognizes its fragility. But she is also a poet unafraid to write about the consequences of our politics, the great divide. She writes as well about art, with ekphrastic poems on paintings by Hopper, O'Keeffe, Renoir, Matisse, Chagall, and others. Many of the poems are elegiac in tone, an older writer tallying up her losses. Her work embodies Bruce Springsteen's dictum: it ain't no sin to be glad we're alive, as she celebrates the explosion of spring peonies, chocolate mousse, a good martini, hummingbirds, flashy metallics, the pewter light of September, Darryl Dawkins, late NBA star, saltine crackers. While she recognizes it might all be about to slip away, she remembers that nothing is ever lost; she writes and somehow we do.
