Finding Home Julie K. Aageson, 2020-07-24 For all who know the security of home in all its iterations and for those who don't finding home is complicated Home always is characterized by joy and sorrow grief and gladness the realities of complicated lives What is it like to flee the horrors of war as a refugee in search of home When daily life is unbearable what exactly does home mean How do we learn to be at home in our bodies at home with ourselves What does it mean to be made in the likeness of the Holy One Can we find home in the company of strangers and how do we reclaim our earth home So many images swim just below the surface of my memory all the houses where I came to know home It takes little to retrieve them a shared story the pungent smell of tide flats the sound of rain on a tin roof But home of course is much more than houses These reflections invite readers to explore identity the importance of rootedness discovering home away from home what it means to be home for one another Finding home literally and metaphorically is challenging Low-income

Housing Tax Credit United States. Congress. House. Committee on Ways and Means. Subcommittee on Select Revenue Measures, 1989 Making the Mission Ocean Howell, 2015-11-17 When and how does a neighborhood become a political actor How does a collective identity take shape out of local politics In his fantastically precise and well illustrated study of the Mission District in San Francisco Ocean Howell draws together the perspectives of formal and informal groups as well as city officials and district residents as they together work and occasionally fight to establish the bounds of the public the public interest and what the neighborhood wants Howell also articulates the development and nuances of Latino political power in the district bringing out stories and context that have received little attention until now In the process he shows that national narratives about how cities grow and change are always insufficient everything is always shaped by local actors and concerns

More Than Shelter, 1985 Nature Unfurled Connie Y. Chiang, 2024-12-31 Explores Asian Americans diverse connections and interactions with the natural world As immigrants and laborers gardeners and artists activists and vacationers Asian Americans have played worked and worshipped in nature for almost two centuries forging enduring relationships with diverse places and people In the process their actual or perceived ties to the environment have added to and amplified xenophobia and racist tropes Indeed white constructions of Asian Americans as the yellow peril the perpetual foreigner and the model minority were often intertwined with their environmental activities At the same time Asian Americans also harnessed environmental resources for their own needs challenging restrictions and outmaneuvering their detractors in the process Expansive and groundbreaking Nature Unfurled examines the links between Asian American and environmental history from the late nineteenth to the early twenty first century With provocative essays on topics such as health in urban Chinatowns Japanese oysters on Washington tidelands American Indian and Japanese American experiences at the Leupp boarding school and isolation center Southeast Asian community gardens and contemporary Asian American outdoor recreation this collection underscores the vibrancy of the field of Asian American environmental history
