onscreen interface and explains how to use the interface to perform a variety of tasks Motherload Ana Villalobos, 2014-09-05 Motherload's core arguments are that security seeking is the driving force of intensive mothering and that high expectation of security in the mother-child relationship is the motherload is what makes mothering so difficult today. It further argues that the motherload carried with every good intention to produce security through this one uniquely powerful relationship can unintentionally undermine families' security. Strategies of producing security vary fundamentally along two dimensions. First, some strategies use mother-child connection as the primary security-producing tool, whereas others use independence. Second, some strategies are intended to provide security to the child, while others are aimed primarily at the mother's security. So, for example, one mother may use independence to create security for her child, and another may use connection to create security for herself. Motherload explores this variety of security strategies and argues against a one-size-fits-all understanding of intensive mothering. For each of these different strategies, I include a chapter to explore the various factors that predispose women toward mothering in that particular way, the family dynamics that security strategy tends to foster, and the early outcomes associated with that strategy, including how the mother-child relationship itself tends to fare when a woman uses that strategy as versus another. In this collection of mothering stories, Lana Skauge retells some of her favorites. Six stories about life's lessons using metaphors and simple truths. They are based on her interactive performance pieces bound by a tradition of storytelling that ancient way of remembering through spiritual heart speak and told here by a straight-shooting prairie girl. Back copy: Reworked from her live performances, these stories are life lessons told through metaphor and simple truths. Meant to be read aloud, they focus on the renewal brought about by Spring and Motherhood. All six stories presented are told in an ancient storyteller tradition where each vignette, through spiritual heart speak and motherly instinct, tugs at the heart strings of hope, happiness, and heritage. Introduction: It is a Mother's Load, one that we accept without hesitation. Whether we are birth mothers, adoptive mothers, grandmothers, or mothers of necessity, our children will one day tell our stories. What a responsibility! My life lessons are best told using metaphor and simple truths. They have rewarded me with a Motherload that I never expected. Reworked from my performances, the following pieces are bound by the tradition of storytelling that ancient way of remembering through spiritual heart speak and instinct that for me comes from a straight-shooting prairie girl who has always listened to her motherland. Stories: Whale Sounds, For my brother Denny Matta's Wish, For Judith Mercer who walks in grace, The Fool and the Storyteller, Part of the sky, sweet Mom, I still feel you Motherload, For all Mothers, Grandma's Hands.
