Managing Technology in Our Schools Betsy Price,2007 There have been many books about managing technology in education but none have discussed the progressing role of the business manager to guide the school towards governing technology_until now Managing Technology in Our Schools is for those who will not only be responsible for managing and financing technology budgets but for providing the leadership to govern The book reflects on the last thirteen years of schools roundabout progress and uses the lessons learned to identify best practices for managing and financing the next wave of technology purchases and application Managing the New Tools in K-12 Teaching and Learning Jerome A. Schulz, 2018 Managing the New Tools in K 12 Teaching and Learning How Technology Can Enable School Improvement is about how to manage technology for learning at the district and school levels It provides an overview of the components of learning technology these include student devices networking software productivity toolkits electronic curricula and resources and data system infrastructure And it discusses how we can manage our technology efforts more effectively to help our students attain the benefits of this technology The book concludes with case studies of how this is being done at pioneering districts We are now at a tipping point in implementing learning technology on a larger scale This is happening very quickly Historically learning technology was driven by a strategy of technology integration where we called on individual teachers to each determine how to use technology in their classes and make changes in their own ways of working But to successfully implement technology on the scale we need requires top down as well as bottom up efforts Managing the New Tools in K 12 Teaching and Learning focuses on how districts and schools can now use technology to bring about the big improvements in learning we are all striving for Classroom Management in the Digital Age Heather Dowd, Patrick Green, 2016-07-16 The education landscape is shifting Information accessibility grows while attention spans shrink Media is king and yet teachers are expected to effectively harness it for learning while also managing the distractions technology tools bring Keeping up with the times while keeping time wasters and senseless screen staring down is new and difficult territory for the most seasoned educator Don't fear the devices In the willing teacher's hands this is a new and welcome age to harness for exponential learning It is a frontier where technology equipped teachers learn alongside students and utilize current tools to maximize collaboration creativity and communication in relevant ways Classroom Management in the Digital Age guides and supports established and transitioning device rich classrooms providing practical strategy to novice and expert educators K 12 Update your own operating system for the digital age by Getting attention from those device focused faces Establishing procedures for daily class routines that harness the power of technology tools Cultivating a culture of student ownership and responsibility Developing routines that increase on task behavior and lessen teacher anxiety Communicating with parents on best practices and consistent school to home behaviors Decreasing distraction with simple helpful tips Letting go of being the expert and taking charge by partnering in learning Classroom Management in the Digital Age offers teachers competency and confidence If you have devices in your classroom already or if you're moving towards implementing tablets iPads Chromebooks or any other device Classroom Management in the Digital Age will partner with you in creating relevant classrooms where learning rules Information Technology in Educational Management Ben-Zion Barta, Y. Gev, Moshe Telem, 1994-12-31 Educational institutions in which administrators managers and teachers will be working in the late 1990's will be far different from those of today Schools which until recently were lagging behind in the implementation of information technology IT in their administration and management are now attempting to close the gap A massive and rapid computerization process in schools school districts and throughout the other levels of the educational system including universities has made computers an integral part of the educational management scene. A computer on the desk of every educational manager might become a reality in the near future. The term IT includes three main components: hardware, software, and mainly management information systems (MIS), decision support systems (DSS), and human factors. Presently, successful implementation depends on adequate software and on human factors. MIS and DSSs are being implemented with the aim of providing meaningful support for school employees in their daily activities and to improve their performance, effectiveness, and efficiency. Much like at universities, usable and accessible school databases are being established encompassing data on students, teachers, employees, classrooms, grade levels, courses, student achievements, and behavior, school space, curriculum, finance, inventory, transportation, etc.

Teachers and Technoliteracy Colin Lankshear, Ilana Snyder, Bill Green, 2000. Teachers and Technoliteracy examines the use of technology in education. Drawing on detailed case studies, the authors show how schools in different settings can establish sustainable and appropriate technology infrastructure. They also show how to develop teaching practices which not only enhance technology skills but a range of literacy skills as well. Analysis of education technology policy reveals how a working understanding of policy is crucial to making the right technology decisions in schools. Teachers and Technoliteracy is a valuable professional reference for school principals and for teachers working with technology. It is also an excellent student text for university courses on computers and education. BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc. All Rights Reserved.
