When Teammates

Do Not Respond Niki Panteli, 2018 The case presents a real life situation that is often experienced among managers of virtual geographically dispersed project teams These are teams with limited if any face to face contact among co workers and team members Problems occur when there are changing project requirements and when there is poor coordination and communication among project team members themselves As such you want your co workers or even your project manager to communicate with you but they don't instead they remain silent In these conditions the dispersed members may feel frustrated rejected and withdrawn all of which have the potential to negatively affect individual and overall project performance The case asks what the manager's role should be in such situations Students are also encouraged to think in terms of what needs to be done in order to avoid such situations and build effective virtual teams project teams Jan Sickinger, 2011 Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2010 im Fachbereich BWL Unternehmensforschung Management Organisation Note 1 7 FOM Hochschule für Oekonomie Management gemeinschaftige GmbH Düsseldorf für her Fachhochschule Veranstaltung Project Management Tools and Organisation Sprache Deutsch Abstract While a project is a form of organisation which is characterised through its uniqueness its novelty and a fixed end date a virtual project team is distributed over different locations worldwide but working together as one team Remote communication between the team members is done through synchronous and asynchronous means of virtual communication Because these media cannot transmit the full bandwidth of human communication there must be rules set how to act with these different means of virtual communication in order to prevent frustration and communication problems Additional difficulties may arise when a virtual project team is composed of people with different cultural backgrounds In such a case a project manager of a virtual team has to join communication skills with intercultural skills In order to work together under these circumstances team building is crucial to make a virtual project a success Successful team building in a virtual project first of all means that people with the right characteristics have to be chosen to form a virtual project team For example they must have a high level of self organisation and social competence Furthermore building trust is crucial in order to make people who may never see each other in real life successfully work together In order to manage the task of a virtual project a project manager of such a team needs a high level of social skills coupled with the skills of a motivator The Blended Delivery model of Logica a global provider of IT services where a local core team works together with an extended virtual team may be a good compromise between virtual and non virtual project work and may combine benefits of bot Managing Virtual Projects Marcus Goncalves,2004-11-22 Managing a project can be stressful enough without the added difficulty of coordinating project members working from different sites or even continents Managing Virtual Projects outlines techniques practices and products that are being effectively used by virtual project managers around the globe With more projects being outsourced every day managers will turn here to get the knowledge they need on maintaining quality and budget controls developing documentation standards implementing essential technologies such as Microsoft s EPM or Primavera and more Best Practices for Managing and Developing Virtual Project Teams Gina Abudi,2012 Managing teams in general is wrought with many challenges when you consider for example the various personalities on the team and the fact that likely many of your team members are working on other initiatives beside the project you are leading Throw a virtual team into the mix and you pile on the challenges Now you are dealing with a variety of cultural backgrounds team members who may never actually meet face to face and time zone differences that make scheduling meetings a challenge in and of themselves The increased complexity of managing virtual project teams requires strong team leadership This paper provides best practices for managing virtual project teams from kicking off the project team through to keeping the team engaged and moving forward and capturing lessons learned to make the ride a bit smoother the next time around It also looks at effectively managing the day to day performance of the team This paper also focuses on how virtual teams fail when they have no clear goals for the project and there are no clearly defined roles and responsibilities In addition it also shows how virtual teams fail when time is not invested in enabling the team to get to know each other developing strong working relationships and learning how to work together effectively in a virtual environment to meet the requirements of the project Managing Virtual Teams Martha Haywood,1998 The software serves as an assessment tool to help make the distributed team more effective The Virtual Project Management Office Robert L. Patterns of Effective Management of Virtual Projects Deepak Khazanchi, Ilze Zigurs, 2005-06-30    Effective Virtual Project Teams Raymond Opdenakker, Carin Cuypers, 2019-07-23. Collaborating in virtual teams is a new reality in modern project management and work environments. Its emergence calls for an extensive analysis and re alignment on the part of organizations so as to help virtual teams maintain strategic momentum, a concept that this book introduces. Strategic momentum represents perseverance with regard to pursuing a virtual team's strategy, a flywheel concept that drives the team members to concentrate on the project tasks until they have reached their shared goal. The authors present a design science based model together with an in depth qualitative study involving eight virtual R D project teams. In this model, strategic momentum is assessed in terms of empowerment, team task insight and collective commitment. These three determinants can be promoted and sustained by various contextual factors and interventions on the part of the management. The authors also provide a wealth of practical tips to help practitioners and consultants generate and sustain strategic momentum in their own contexts when working with virtual teams.
