Managing Without Leadership

Fenwick W. English

Managing Without Leadership:

Managing without Leadership Gabriele Lakomski, 2004-12-15 Argues that leadership as traditionally understood does not explain organizational functioning Drawing on coherentist epistemology connectionism and the theory of self organizing dynamic systems a naturalistic account of organizational functioning is explored that includes leaders as non privileged agents in the fabric of organizational life

Managers Not MBAs Henry Mintzberg, 2005-06-02 In this sweeping critique of how managers are educated and how as a consequence management is practiced Henry Mintzberg offers thoughtful and controversial ideas for reforming both The MBA trains the wrong people in the wrong ways with the wrong consequences Mintzberg writes Using the classroom to help develop people already practicing management is a fine idea but pretending to create managers out of people who have never managed is a sham Leaders cannot be created in a classroom They arise in context But people who already practice management can significantly improve their effectiveness given the opportunity to learn thoughtfully from their own experience Mintzberg calls for a more engaging approach to managing and a more reflective approach to management education He also outlines how business schools can become true schools of management

Debating Leaderless Management Frederik Hertel, Anders Örtengren, Kenneth Mølberg Jørgensen, 2022-12-16 Management research has traditionally assumed that leaders play an essential role in both public and private organizations and are required for a business to run smoothly However more recently a vein of critical research has claimed that leaders can do more harm than good creating confusion and putting their reputation before production and employee wellbeing This book asks the question what would happen if there were no leaders Would employees be better off without formal or informal leaders And even if such a utopia were desirable would it be realizable in practice
