

What is Public Administration?

According to De Guzman (1993)

In the Philippines, Public Administration from very broad perspective, may be viewed to refer not only to those activities in carrying out or in implementing the policies and programs of the government but also to the processes and contents of these policies and programs. From an even broader perspective, Public Administration may refer to cooperative human action whether within the public bureaucracy, the private sector or in non-governmental organizations aimed at delivering services to the people.
