Michael Shattock, 2014-06-05 Governance is becoming increasingly important in universities just as it is in the wider world of commerce and banking Historically universities were run by their academic communities but as mass higher education has taken root as university research has become a critical element in national economies and as the demand for more accountability both financial and in academic performance has grown pressure has mounted for a modernisation of governance structures One aspect of modernisation particularly important in many European systems and in Japan has been the decision by governments to give institutions greater autonomy more control over their budgets and legal responsibility for the employment of their staff International trends to introduce greater competition between institutions to encourage greater institutional differentiation and give greater play to market forces has led to an emphasis on leadership a more systematic involvement of external stakeholders and a more corporate style of governance At the same time this has often led to a sense of loss of collegiality a redistribution of authority and a growing gap between the centre and the periphery within universities This book analyses governance change in nine major higher education systems Australia Finland France Germany Italy Japan Norway the UK and the USA each account being the result of independent research by a leading authority in the field and describes how a convergence of governance structures has been mediated by the historical cultural political and social characteristics of the different systems Michael Shattock is a leading authority on university governance this study offers the most up to date account of governance reform in a range of higher education systems an analysis of the common trends and an assessment of their impact on the idea of a university It will be essential reading for academics
