Challenges Faced by School Management Teams in Managing Rural Schools in Three Selected Schools in South Africa

Abstract

Background/purpose. Rural schools present unique challenges for School Management Teams, as most learners only attend school occasionally due to cultural obligations and household chores, resulting in low attendance rates. The study aimed to explore the challenges that school management teams faced while managing rural schools, which negatively impacted the quality of teaching and learning.

Materials/methods. This study adopted a case study design and used a qualitative approach. Data were gathered through semi-structured interviews with ten participants.

Results. The study findings revealed a number of challenges that school management teams face while managing rural schools, which negatively impact the quality of teaching and learning. These challenges included a lack of resources, the late coming of learners, the influence of substance abuse, bullying, teenage pregnancy, classroom management, contact workshops, the management of HR (teachers), the lack of parental involvement, the lack of effective communication, staff division and content gaps, and a negative attitude towards schoolwork.

Conclusion. To address the challenges that school management teams face, this study recommends that the Department of Education should ensure that rural schools receive equitable and adequate funding to meet their needs. To improve access to resources, the department can implement targeted funding programmes that address the specific challenges of these school settings. This could include financial support for upgrading the technological infrastructure, providing high-quality educational materials, and securing larger facilities.

Safety Management Systems in Aviation Alan J. Stolzer, John J. Goglia, 2016-03-03

Although aviation is among the safest modes of transportation in the world today accidents still happen In order to further reduce accidents and improve safety proactive approaches must be adopted by the aviation community The International Civil Aviation Organization ICAO has mandated that all of its member states implement Safety Management System SMS programs in their aviation industries While some countries the United States Australia Canada members of the European Union and New Zealand for example have been engaged in SMS for a few years it is still non-existent in many other countries This unique and comprehensive book has been designed as a textbook for the student of aviation safety and as an invaluable reference tool for the SMS practitioner in any segment of aviation It discusses the quality management underpinnings of SMS the four components risk management reliability engineering SMS implementation and the scientific rigor that must be designed into proactive safety The authors introduce a hypothetical airline oriented safety scenario at the beginning of the book and conclude it at the end engaging the reader and adding interest to the text To enhance the practical application of the material the book also features numerous SMS in Practice commentaries by some of the most respected names in aviation safety In this second edition of Safety Management Systems in Aviation the authors have extensively updated relevant sections to reflect developments since the original book of 2008 New sections include a brief history of FAA initiatives to establish SMS data driven safety studies developing a system description SMS in a flight school and measuring SMS effectiveness
