Managing Museums and Galleries Michael Fopp, 2012-10-12 The current economic climate coupled with an all embracing desire for museums to be respondent to the market make a proper grounding in management essential. The bottom line is one of the most powerful measures of management performance. Museums and galleries invariably have a neutral bottom line, they are not set up to make a profit and many of them are constrained by governmental accounting rules and charity legislation. Managing these organisations is difficult and this book tackles the issues that make it easier. Managing the Museum examines the highly sophisticated principles and techniques of modern business management from the perspective of museums and galleries and delineates their practical application. This volume surveys the day to day issues of time management, delegation and recruitment to the problems of strategic planning and initiating and controlling conflict and change. This study incorporates the needs of both the independent and national sectors and discusses the links between the museum and commerce.    Museums and Money Victoria D. Alexander, 1996 While funding for the arts was shifting from individuals to institutions including the federal government did the mission and management of museums change.

Transforming Museum Management Yuha Jung, 2021-07-25 Museums must change to illuminate the histories, cultures and social issues that matter to their local population. Based on a unique longitudinal ethnographic study, Transforming Museum Management illustrates how a traditional art museum attempted to transform into a more inclusive and community-based institution. Using open systems theory and the Buddhist concept of mutual causality, it examines the museum's internal management structure and culture, programs and exhibitions, and mental models of museum workers. In providing both theoretical and practical foundations to transform management structures, this accessible volume will benefit stakeholders by proposing a new culture and structure to arts institutions to change practice to be more relevant, diverse and inclusive. This book will be an invaluable resource for researchers and advanced students of museum studies, cultural management, arts administration, non profit management and organizational studies.
