Nebraska A Geography:

Nebraska Bradley H. Baltensperger, 2019-03-01 Nebraska is the first comprehensive examination of the patterns of Nebraska's resources, population, economy, climate, and landscape to be published in many years. Focusing especially on the people of Nebraska and the interaction between the environment and human use of the earth, Professor Baltensperger begins with a discussion of the physical environment and resources of the state and ties early patterns of development to the need to adjust settlement systems and agricultural practices to a subhumid climate. The role of energy-intensive agriculture in the state's economy is a central aspect of the book's examination of human interaction with the environment. The impact of modern technology on Nebraska's agricultural system and on its population receives considerable attention, as do the problems associated with recent agricultural developments. Also scrutinized are the land use conflicts generated by urban growth and by the demands of an urban society on rural Nebraska. Geography of Nebraska George Evert Condra, 1917

AUGHEY, 2018 Geography of Nebraska Nels August Bengtson, 1921 Geography of Nebraska (Classic Reprint) George Evert Condra, 2017-12-16 Excerpt from Geography of Nebraska There is a lack of geography literature in Nebraska. Various state and United States publications have been issued but most of them are now not accessible and none of them were written for use in schools. This elementary text is intended primarily for use in the graded and rural schools. However, its subjects are presented in a way that may recommend the book to general readers as well in the absence of a more complete treatment of the subject. The subject matter of the volume is based for the most part on the author's personal experience in the state while working on the Nebraska Geological Survey, Nebraska Soil Survey, and for the United States Geological Survey. The author has also obtained data from publications of the following authors: Barbour, Bessey, Blackman, Clements, Darton, Johnson, Lyon, Loveland, Sheldon, Swezey, and Todd.
