Martin Sajdik, Michael Schwarzing

Negotiating European Union:

European Union Enlargement Martin Sajdik, Michael Schwarzing, 2011-12-31 European Union Enlargement offers an intense and detailed analysis of the almost ten year process of preparing and negotiating the accession of Eastern Southeastern and Central European countries as well as Mediterranean countries to the European Union. In the end ten joined in 2004 with two more to follow in 2007. European Union Enlargement was written by two diplomats who were directly involved in that process. Sajdik and Schwarzing relate their first hand experience of proceedings that occurred behind closed doors. They detail how the vision of adding some countries gradually developed into the concrete policy intended to enlarge the European Union. A special chapter explains the Accession Process as well as the Union's strategy that prepared the candidate countries in legal and economic terms for membership. The authors describe in detail the complex negotiations that occurred from 1998 to 2002. These include activities of EU member states as well as the European Commission with respect to the candidate countries. They further offer a brief analysis of future possibilities of EU accession by Balkan nations and Turkey. A number of topical chapters deal with particular key issues involved in the process: free movement of workers, agriculture, financing of the enlargement, transport and nuclear safety. Other chapters deal with the enclave of Kaliningrad as well as the Stability and Association Pact for South East Europe. In addition to providing key information about the process, this volume is also a case study of European policies and diplomatic practice. The enlargement negotiations from 1998 to 2002 were the most complex ones the European Union had ever conducted. In consequence, this work gives insight into the working methods of both the institutions in Brussels and of the representatives of the member states that made them a success. It will be of interest to those concerned with European politics, international organizations and area studies.

Negotiating European Union Paul Meerts, Franz Cede, 2005-03-16 The European Union can be perceived as an enormous bilateral and multilateral process of internal and external negotiation. This book examines negotiations within member states, between member states within and between the institutions of the Union and between the EU and other countries. It also analyzes processes, actors and interests. This book is therefore a unique probe into the relatively unknown arena of negotiation processes in the European Union.

European Union Negotiations Ole Elgström, Christer Jönsson, 2004-08-02 The EU policy process is dependent on negotiations as a mode of reaching agreements on and implementing common policies. The EU negotiations differ from traditional international negotiations in several respects and this book presents a detailed analysis of the processes while examining their distinguishing features. The authors explore the variety of negotiation processes, the continuity and institutionalization of negotiation processes as well as the involvement of a variety of actors besides governments often linked in informal networks. Going beyond the common distinctions based on issue areas or the EU as negotiation arena as opposed to negotiating actor externally, the authors explore the impact of different stages in the policy process and the nature of the external negotiating partner.

Negotiating the New Europe Dimitris

Papadimitriou, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2002 Offering a new and challenging perspective on how the European Union EU sought to structure its relations with Central and Southeast Europe after the Cold War this volume draws upon key debates in both politics and international relations A historically and theoretically informed examination of the EU's engagement in Central and Eastern Europe since 1989 the book combines conceptual rigour with clear empirical analysis firmly grounding the study of the European Union's current enlargement process in established theoretical perspectives The book is written in an engaging and accessible way which will appeal to academics students and practitioners alike Negotiating in the European Union Paul Meerts, Diplomatic Studies Programme, University of Leicester. Centre for the Study of Diplomacy, 1995 Priorities in negotiating Romania's accession to the European Union Perju Genoveva, 2019-12-15 Priorities in negotiating Romania's accession to the European Union by Prof ec Dr Genoveva Elena period Priorities in negotiating Romania's accession to the European Union The competitiveness of the Romanian exports has improved both as a result of the restructuring of the economy and the devaluation of the currency The example of industrial production is illustrative Production of the processing industry decreased by 8% in 1999 compared to 1998 its share in exports increasing from 30.7% to 35.1% and the export growth rate was 5.9% The main effect was a reduction of the current account deficit Overall the current account deficit fluctuated representing on average 5.2% of GDP The budget deficit was difficult to control but it was achieved by applying the European Union's strictures We can also talk about performance in terms of the level of external debt relative to the level of the external debt of the Union which is at a higher level than other candidate countries The labor market was affected by imbalances both in the ratio of the active and inactive population and in the employment rate The population employed in agriculture owns about 40% of the total employed population In addition a large part of the population was affected by the poor approximately 33.8% population especially in rural areas 40.5% In such an internal and international framework marked by interdependencies with echoes internally from the Union or candidate countries resolving divergent situations or removing obstacles to assuming obligations and arousing political will the quality and experience of the negotiator can be considered decisive for further cooperation The EU in International Negotiations Magdalena Frennhoff Larsén, 2023-02-24 This book which is aimed at scholars practitioners advanced under graduate and post graduate students seeks to contribute to the understanding of the EU as an international negotiator by analysing a number of external policy areas where the EU to a great extent engages internationally through negotiations including development trade enlargement and withdrawal Experiencing the European Union Marco Brunazzo, Pierpaolo Settembri, 2013-06-03T00:00:00+02:00 The EU is a complex political and institutional machine with distinct procedures language and codes Its functioning is based on negotiations among a variety of actors at different levels local regional national supranational inter institutional intra institutional etc as well as in informal and non legislative contexts For this reason the EU can be difficult to understand Negotiation roleplaying simulations can shed light on the genuine dynamics of the system and are thus becoming an essential element in teaching and training on EU matters This book is an introduction and a guide to the EU decision making process and its institutional settings an essential tool for effective negotiators in the European arena and an instrument for teachers at any level offering a series of suggestions on how to design successful simulation games

The EU in Association Agreement Negotiations Daniel

Schade,2019-10-21 Through its focus on EU Association Agreement negotiations this book goes beyond the study of traditional EU trade negotiations and puts the spotlight on the increasing number of negotiations where trade relations are discussed alongside political ones This setting makes both the negotiations themselves and the definition of the EU s positions more complicated raising the question as to what ultimately determines the EU s behaviour in such complex negotiations spanning multiple of the EU s policy areas Offering a generalizable analytical model to study such complex EU international negotiations the book illuminates the preferences and interactions between individual parts of the EU s foreign affairs bureaucracy and those between the lead actors the Directorate General for Trade and the European External Action Service EEAS in particular In doing so it demonstrates the utility of adapting the concept of bureaucratic politics from Foreign Policy Analysis FPA to the EU s foreign policy decision making apparatus across different stages of EU international negotiations It also discusses how the institutional changes of the Treaty of Lisbon have altered the institutional set up of the EU s foreign affairs bureaucracy and thereby changed the foundations of the EU s bureaucratic politics Finally the book finds that the EU s behaviour in these negotiations is ultimately shaped on the one hand by the presence of diverging positions between its institutional actors and the difficulty to bridge them through policy coordination mechanisms on the other Empirically it explores these dynamics by considering the EU s Association Agreement negotiations on the Latin American continent over the last twenty years before demonstrating the analytical model s utility in the context of the EU s negotiations with Ukraine and Japan This book will be of key interest to scholars students and practitioners in EU foreign affairs external relations EU public administration and public policy EU trade policy and more broadly to Foreign Policy Analysis and International Relations

Negotiating in the European Union Paul Meerts,1990

Negotiation Theory and the EU Andreas Dür,Gemma Mateo,Daniel Thomas,2013-10-31 Negotiations are central to the ethos and functioning of the European Union yet the dynamics of EU negotiations have received far too little systematic scholarly attention This volume offers a thematic and forward looking survey of cutting edge research on EU negotiation dynamics identifying findings to date and setting an empirical and methodological agenda for future research The chapters by leading international experts address a wide range of critical questions in this area including What factors influence negotiation behaviour and outcomes in the EU How can we explain variation in the choice of negotiation styles When do actors engage in arguing or bargaining What are the determinants of bargaining power What are the institutional foundations of EU negotiations And what role does the presidency play in EU negotiations The volume also discusses how the findings of the multi disciplinary field of negotiation studies can inform research on negotiation dynamics in the EU The volume will be of great interest to established scholars and advanced students of international relations European integration and governance and negotiation analysis This book was based on a special issue of Journal of European Public Policy

Conflict, Negotiation and European Union Enlargement Christina J. Schneider, 2009 This book argues on EU enlargement looks at how EU members and applicant states negotiate enlargement benefits and costs

Negotiating Flexibility in the European Union A. Stubb, 2002-04-15

Alexander Stubb a participant in the 1996 97 and 2000 Intergovernmental Conferences analyzes the evolution of flexible integration from the early 1970s to the present day and beyond He focuses in the process of negotiations which led to the institutionalisation of flexibility in the Amsterdam and Nice Treaties This book provides a valuable insider's view on historical decisionmaking in the European Union

Negotiating Unity and Diversity in the European Union Florian Bieber, Roland Bieber, 2020-10-21 This book explores how the European Union has been responding to the challenge of diversity In doing so it considers the EU as a complex polity that has found novel ways for accommodating diversity Much of the literature on the EU seeks to identify it as a unique case of cooperation between states that moves past classic international cooperation This volume argues that in order to understand the EU's effort in managing the diversity among its members and citizens it is more effective to look at the EU as a state While acknowledging that the EU lacks key aspects of statehood the authors show that looking at the EU efforts to balance diversity and unity through the lens of state policy is a fruitful way to understand the Union Instead of conceptualising the EU as being incomparable and unique which is neither an international organisation nor a state the book argues that EU can be understood as a polity that shares many approaches and strategies with complex and diverse states As such its effort to build political structures to accommodate diversity offers lessons to other such polities The experience of the EU contributes to the understanding of how states and other polities can respond to challenges of diversity including both the diversity of constituent units or of sub national groups and identities

European Union Enlargement Vincent Morelli, 2011-04 Oct 2010 marked the 5th anniversary of the EU's decision to proceed with formal negotiations with Turkey toward full membership in the EU It also marked the beginning of the annual period when all three EU institutions the Council Commission and Parliament provide their assessment of the progress Turkey had made in the accession process over the last year and to issue recommendations on how Turkey's accession process should proceed Despite changes taking place in Turkey its EU accession process continued at a relatively slow pace Contents of this report The EU Accession Process Turkey's Initial Path to EU Accession Current Status of Turkey's Accession The Cyprus Dilemma U.S. Perspectives Assessment This is a print on demand report

European Union Enlargement Michael Schwarzingger, 2017-09-25 European Union Enlargement offers an intense and detailed analysis of the almost ten year process of preparing and negotiating the accession of Eastern Southeastern and Central European countries as well as Mediterranean countries to the European Union In the end ten joined in 2004 with two more to follow in 2007 European

Leadership and Negotiation in the European Union Jonas Tallberg, 2006-08-24 In this 2006 book Jonas Tallberg offers a novel perspective on some of the most fundamental questions about international cooperation and European Union politics Offering the first systematic theoretical and empirical exploration of the influence wielded by chairmen of multilateral negotiations Tallberg develops a rationalist theory of formal leadership and demonstrates its explanatory power through carefully selected case studies of EU negotiations He shows that the rotating Presidency of the EU constitutes a power platform that grants governments unique opportunities to shape the outcomes of negotiations His provocative analysis establishes that Presidencies while performing vital functions for the EU simultaneously exploit their privileged political position to favour national interests Extending the scope of the analysis to international negotiations on trade security and the environment Tallberg further demonstrates that the influence of the EU Presidency is not an isolated occurrence but the expression of a general phenomenon in world politics the power of the chair

Policy Coherence and EU Development Policy Maurizio Carbone, 2013-09-13 The principle of policy coherence has been the object of a contentious debate in the European Union's external relations though discussions have been mainly limited to its foreign policy and its ability to speak with one voice in the international arena Despite being institutionalised in the Treaty of Maastricht policy coherence for development PCD which implies taking into account the needs and interests of developing countries in non aid policies failed to make headway in the European Union remaining the unheeded concern of some NGOs and a small group of Member States A change of direction occurred in the early 2000s when the European Commission taking advantage of a number of favourable conditions and using an astute strategy managed to set an ambitious agenda for the European Union This volume analyses the linkages between aid and various non aid policies namely trade agriculture fisheries security migration and the social dimension of globalisation Its aim is to shed new light on the EU's policy making process by looking at the nexus between various policy sub systems and on the role that the EU wants to play in the international arena by looking at the impact of its policies on international development This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of European Integration

Extending European Cooperation Alasdair R. Young, 2002 This is the first study to examine the entire life cycle in the Middle Ages Drawing on a wide range of secondary and primary material the book explores the timing and experiences of infancy childhood adolescence and youth adulthood old age and finally death It discusses attitudes towards ageing rites of passage age stereotypes in operation and the means by which age was used as a form of social control compelling individuals to work govern marry and pay taxes The wide scope of the study allows contrasts and comparisons to be made across gender social status and geographical location It considers whether men and women experienced the ageing process in the same way and examines the differences that can be discerned between northern and southern Europe The fourteenth and fifteenth centuries suffered famine warfare plague and population collapse This fascinating consideration of the life cycle adds a new dimension to the debate over continuity and change in a period of social and demographic upheaval
