Ramji,2007      Negotiating Identities in Thai Conversation Rita Carol Simpson,1997      Negotiating Identities in Women's Lives Christine W. Sizemore,2002-05-30 Women face different psychological issues at different ages But these issues and the experience of confronting them depend on cultural contexts Literary works represent these psychological and social conflicts but the manner of representation varies according to the culture of the author This book brings together feminism postcolonial theory and developmental psychology to analyze how traditional literary forms are transformed by women writing in different cultures The volume discusses works by such well known authors as Margaret Atwood Nadine Gordimer Keri Hulme and Doris Lessing along with fiction by less studied writers such as Barbara Burford Joan Riley and Jessica Anderson By juxtaposing novels from different cultures the volume highlights the new ways in which women renegotiate their identities at different ages and writers reconfigure novelistic forms The first chapter looks at the search for adulthood in Tsitsi Dangarembga s Nervous Conditions set in Zimbabwe and in Margaret Atwood s Cat s Eye set in Canada The second on the seach for intimacy analyzes how Barbara Burford s lesbian novella The Threshing Floor and Keri Hulme s evocation of Maori commensalism in The Bone People undo the traditional romance plot. Later chapters offer similar examinations of how various life stages such as the searches for place, space and integrity are treated in other works. Negotiating Identity Susie Scott, 2016-02-19. Identity is never just an individual matter; it is intricately shaped by our experiences of social life. Taking a Symbolic Interactionist approach and drawing on Goffman's dramaturgical theory, Susie Scott explores the micro-social processes of interaction through which identities are created, maintained, challenged and reinvented. With a focus on empirical studies as illustrations, classic sociological theory is applied to contemporary examples. Each chapter focuses on a key dimension of how identities are negotiated in the drama of everyday life, from politeness and face-saving rituals to secrecy, lies and deception. Goffman's ideas are explored in relation to self-presentation, role-making, group interaction and public behaviour, while language and discourse are shown to help people to give credible identity performances and to frame social situations. The book reveals how social selves change over the life course through stigma labelling and deviant careers, and how life in a total institution can radically transform its members' identities. Through all of these processes, self and society are shown to be intertwined. This insightful approach will appeal to students taking a range of courses in the sociology of the self, identity, interaction and everyday life. NEGOTIATING IDENTITY Anthony D. Buckley, Mary Catherine Kenney, 1995-10-17. Contending that Northern Ireland is not composed of two separate cultures but rather of two opposing groups manipulating a shared culture, Negotiating Identity contributes to a specifically anthropological theory of ethnicity and identity. Negotiating Identities Randal F. Schnoor, University of Toronto Press, Negotiating Identity, Politics, and Spirituality Maria Teresa Ceseña, 2004. Negotiating Multiple Identities Isis Hattie Settles, 2001. Negotiating Tamil Identity in India and the United States Kelsey Clark Underwood, 1986. Negotiating Identities Aparna Rayaprol, 1997. This book is about how immigrant communities conceptualize and indeed actualize the process of reconstruction in a foreign land. Faced with a disjunctive crisis, a community can find in religion a major symbolic resource that helps to make such rebuilding possible. In this book, the community in question is South Indian, and the material representation of their coming together is the Sri Venkateswara temple in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The author examines the dynamics of gender roles within this specific occurrence of India to America immigration, emphasizing the ways in which both women and girls, by way of cultural and religious activities related to the temple, have created a niche for themselves within the community. Negotiation and Construction of National Identities Karim K. Mezran, 2007. Drawing from the study of the political development of the four states of the Maghreb, this book finds that the crisis of identity that has occurred in some of them is due to the lack of negotiation on the national identity among elites at the time of independence.
