Negotiating Secular And Ecclesiastical Power:

Negotiating Secular and Ecclesiastical Power Arnoud-Jan Bijsterveld, H. B. Teunis, Andrew Wareham, 1999 How was medieval Europe held together People of dissimilar occupations and economic interests living in widely separate parts of western Europe came to recognise and act upon a common set of cultural beliefs This framework of shared social customs and values that is distinctively medieval and European arose from the interaction between secular and ecclesiastical power but these developments can no longer be convincingly viewed as arising solely from events such as the Wars of Investiture and the Fourth Lateran Council The historiography of this study shows that the medieval mental framework was not solely concerned with the great struggles between Rome and lay rulers but neither can we assume that local communities were islands of cohesion in a wider world of chaos and conflict The case studies presented demonstrate how texts were used as weapons by ecclesiastical authorities in defining their relationships with lay powers Other studies here focus upon how land and kinship was used to define the social relations between the laity and the clergy The concluding section concentrates upon the solution of conflicts Do Ut Des Arnoud-Jan Bijsterveld, 2007 Reforming the Church before Modernity Christopher M. Bellitto, 2016-04-08 Reforming the Church before Modernity considers the question of ecclesial reform from late antiquity to the 17th century and tackles this complex question from primarily cultural perspectives rather than the more usual institutional approaches The common themes are social change centres and peripheries of change monasticism and intellectuals and their relationship to reform This innovative approach opens up the question of how religious reform took place and challenges existing ecclesiological models that remains too focussed on structures in a manner artificial for pre modern Europe Several chapters specifically take issue with the problem of what constitutes reform reformations and historians notions of the periodization of reform while in others the relationship between personal transformation and its broader social political or ecclesial context emerges as a significant dynamic Presenting essays from a distinguished international cast of scholars the book makes an important contribution to the debates over ecclesiology and religious reform stimulated by the anniversary of Vatican II Lords and Communities in Early Medieval East Anglia Andrew Wareham, 2005 This text is an investigation of the changing power structures of the English aristocracy in medieval England The author uses the organization of the aristocracy in East Anglia as a case study to explore the issue The Appeal to the Original Status H. B. Teunis, 2006 The Plow, the Pen and the Sword Rudi Künzel, 2017-09-22 This book compares the cultures of the different social groups living in the Low Countries in the early Middle Ages Clergy nobility peasants and townsmen greatly varied in their attitudes to labor property violence and the handling and showing of emotions Künzel explores how these social groups looked at themselves as a group and how they looked at the other groups Image and self image could differ radically The results of this research are specified and tested in four case studies on the interaction between group cultures focusing respectively on the influence of oral and written traditions on a literary work rituals as a means of conflict management in weakly centralized societies stories as an expression of an urban group mentality and beliefs on death and the afterlife

Aspects of Power and Authority in the Middle Ages Brenda Bolton, Christine Meek, 2007 Concepts of power and authority and the relationship between them were fundamental to many aspects of medieval society The essays in this collection present a series of case studies that range widely both chronologically and geographically from Lombard Italy to early modern Iberia and from Anglo Saxon Norman and later medieval England to twelfth century France and the lands beyond the Elbe in the conversion period While some papers deal with traditional royal princely and ecclesiastical authority they do so in new ways Others examine groups and aspects less obviously connected to power and authority such as the networks of influence centring on royal women or powerful ecclesiastics the power relationships revealed in Anglo Saxon and Old Norse literature or the influence that might be exercised by needy crusaders by Jews with the ability to advance loans or by parish priests on the basis of their local connections An important section discusses the power of the written word whether papal bulls collections of miracle stories or the documents produced in lawsuits The papers in this volume demonstrate the variety and multiplicity of both power and authority and the many ways by which individuals exercised influence and exerted a claim to be heard and respected

Rhetoric and Renewal in the Latin West 1100-1540 John O. Ward, 2003 The essays in this volume presented in honour of John O Ward explore the role of rhetoric in promoting reform and renewal in the Latin West from Peter Abelard 1079 1142 to Juan Luis Vives 1492 1540 Ward who has taught for many years at the University of Sydney has been an influential and creative force in medieval and Renaissance studies both in Australia and internationally This volume opens with a personal memoir and bibliography of Ward s publications as well as an overview of the study of medieval rhetoric The first of the three sections Abelard and Rhetoric relates Abelard s rhetoric to his logic his theology and his relationship to Heloise A second section Voices of Reform considers various writers William of Malmesbury John of Salisbury Richard FitzNigel and William of Ockham who bring rhetorical techniques to bear upon analysis of social conditions A third section Rhetoric in Transition deals with the evolution of rhetorical theory between the late fourteenth and early sixteenth centuries The volume will be of interest not just to specialists in rhetoric but to all concerned with issues of reform and renewal in European culture during the period 1100 1540

Representations of Power in Medieval Germany 800-1500 Björn K. U. Weiler, Simon MacLean, 2006 This book brings together a group of leading experts on the political history of Germany and the medieval empire from the Carolingian period to the end of the Middle Ages Its purpose is to introduce and analyse key concepts in the study of medieval political culture The representation of power by means of texts buildings and images is a theme which has long interested historians However recent debates and methodological insights have fundamentally altered the way this subject is perceived opening it up to perspectives unnoticed by its pioneers in the middle of the twentieth century By taking account of these debates and insights this volume explores a series of fundamental questions How was power defined in a medieval context How was it claimed legitimized and disputed What were the moral parameters against which its exercise was judged How did different spheres of political power interact What roles were played by texts images and rituals in the maintenance of and challenges to the political order The contributors bring varied and original approaches to these and other questions illuminating the complex power relationships which determined the changing political history of medieval Germany

Rievaulx Abbey and Its Social Context, 1132-1300 Emilia Jamroziak, 2005 Rievaulx abbey was one of the most prominent houses of white monks Cistercians in England and became in the course of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries an important feature of the ecclesiastical and social landscape of Yorkshire The present work is the first in depth study devoted to Rievaulx s social history The abbey s once extensive archives were largely destroyed after the Dissolution but the surviving late twelfth century cartulary provides a fascinating insight into the process of creating institutional memory preserving and shaping information about various neighbours of the abbey and creating a map of social networks that developed around Rievaulx The complex picture of building and sustaining connections between the abbey and its lay patrons benefactors and neighbours forms a core to this book This study also examines how Rievaulxco existed with other religious institutions in the area and particularly the practical dimension of friendships between abbots declarations of mutual support between monastic communities and how these were reconciled with a fierce competition for land and donations Contacts between Rievaulx abbey and the nearby archbishops of York and bishops of Durham were intense and these contacts demonstrate how important these prelates were as potential supporters and how broader ecclesiastical issues influenced their relationships with Rievaulx Whilst exploring the case of one particular monastery this book is an important contribution to the current debate on the shaping of Cistercian practice and particularly the mechanisms for the interaction between laity and monastic communities during the High Middle Ages
