Michael Rowlands,Nick Stanley,Graeme Were,2025-03-20 Since the later part of the twentieth century ethnographic museums have come under increasing scrutiny and many have reflected on and changed their presentation as they questioned collections so often made by colonial officials and explorers Now is a good time to explore whether new developments in display and cultural politics provide a viable future for ethnographic museums In particular policies for restitution by colonial era institutions create a changed landscape for ethnographic display both in the countries from which they originate and in former colonising states Reframing the Ethnographic Museum presents a wide range of cultural settings across the world where ethnographic displays have appeared in their local circumstances Non European museum strategies raise new problems but also new solutions Nationalism has been especially significant in museology in Asia and in Africa new museum objectives have emerged They share a problematic future in a digital age when the aura of artefacts is challenged by digital repositories and a public less willing to travel to visit original objects Authors in this book grapple with the new complexities facing them as curators in the contemporary world Praise for Reframing the Ethnographic Museum Ethnographic museums have been controversial and have been undergoing re invention for decades They are considered illegitimate but have renewed prominence as highly visible contact zones and theatres of cross cultural mediation This book reviews and explores the sector with insight and nuance reporting the successes and failures of key curatorial projects both within Europe and across the Global South Nicholas Thomas University of Cambridge Science, Magic and Religion Mary Bouquet,Nuno Porto,2006-04-01 For some time now museums have been recognized as important institutions of western cultural and social life The idea of the museum as a ritual site is fairly new and has been applied to the art museums in Europe and the United States so far This volume expands it by exploring a range of contemporary museums in Europe and Africa The case studies examine the different ways in which various actors involved in cultural production dramatize and ritualize such sites It turns out that not only museum specialists but visitors themselves are engaged in complex performances and experiences that make use of museums in often unexpected ways
