Mastery Learning:

Mastery Learning: Theory and Practice Peter W. Airasian, 1971      Standards and Mastery Learning J. Ronald Gentile, James P. Lalley, 2003-01-06 This book describes the concept of mastery learning in the classroom and the various foundations upon which it is built. Five chapters discuss 1 Understanding Mastery Learning e.g. the learning memory base, the measurement base, theoretical bases, and the brain base. 2 Examining the Standards Math, Science, Social Studies, and English Language Arts e.g. mastery as a beginning beyond mastery and standards. 3 Planning Standards Based Lessons using Mastery Learning e.g. overlap among state and national standards, enrichment and remediation, and planning lessons using six elements of mastery learning. 4 Implementing Standards and Mastery Learning in the Classroom 13 steps to implementing mastery learning and 5 Professional Development and Mastery Learning e.g. a plan for action and a professional development agenda and teaching for mastery. The appendix looks at what the literature can tell e.g. two approaches to mastery learning, empirical evidence, research examples, and memory by fast and slow learners. Contains approximately 160 references. SM

The Mastery Learning Handbook Jonathan Bergmann, 2022-10-14 Mastery learning is an instructional approach that empowers every student to progress with confidence. Using flexible pacing and targeted supports, teachers guide students through a cyclic process of preparation, demonstration, and formative feedback until there is a mutual agreement between teacher and student that the student is ready to advance. In this book, educator Jonathan Bergmann, a pioneer of the flipped classroom movement, walks you step by step through the mastery learning cycle, explaining what it entails and providing the templates, models, and rubrics you need to start using it in your own classroom. You'll learn how to set meaningful, measurable, and transferable learning objectives that target essential knowledge, skills, and dispositions. Develop a mastery rubric to check for student levels of proficiency. Create an assessment plan that ensures positive learning experiences for all. Plan and deliver units that incorporate both time-shifted direct instruction and collaborative application activities within the classroom space. Provide timely differentiated support based on students' individual learning needs. Informed by trial and error in his own classroom and by discussions with other expert practitioners, Bergmann shares commonsense solutions to the major challenges of mastery learning implementation, everything from how to manage pacing to how to create multiple versions of tests, determine grades, and get stakeholder buy-in. Implementing Mastery Learning Thomas R. Guskey, 2022-10-28 The definitive classic updated for our times. After 50 years, Benjamin Bloom's revolutionary work on mastery learning is more relevant than ever. Education for All Robert E. Slavin,1996-01-01 This work is a collection of previously published articles by Robert Slavin The articles trace the evolution over a quarter century of the powerful idea that given well developed rigorously evaluated methods and materials teachers can succeed with virtually all children An Outcome-based Mastery Learning System for Small Schools Klawunder, Kenneth L.,1983 The purpose of this research is to identify and study the recent literature about Mastery Learning and its initiation into the public schools to compile information from on site examinations of schools utilizing Mastery Learning techniques and to formulate a plan for development and implementation of Mastery Learning into small schools Mastery Learning is a philosophy of learning which contends that all students can learn to a high level of excellence if provided adequate time and if proper instructional techniques are utilized The teaching methods in sure that all students learn what the school intends them to and also improves the child s self image through repeated success in academic achievement Mastery Learning instructional process requires 1 diagnosis of student preparedness 2 group instruction in two or more modes 3 formative tests 4 reteaching and 5 a summative evaluation Most schools employing Mastery Learning are large and developed their own plan to fit the uniqueness of their situation unaware that others were attempting a similar program Each district experienced problems and successes in development which were almost identical It was felt that on site examination of the programs and interviews with those who attempted the changes were necessary The initial phase of the research was a review of the literature pertaining to Mastery Learning and its practices in schools Since John B Carroll's work in 1963 much has been written about the methods both in praise and condemnation but little has been written regarding how best to initiate the practices into schools The next phase of research consisted of actual school visitation Five school districts in various parts of the nation were selected because of the thoroughness and time spent in development notoriety in educational journals and their invitation and willingness to provide access to classrooms and information about problems and successes Johnson City Central School District in New York Adams County District 12 near Denver Colorado Mukiltec School District located in western Washington Hood River Valley High School in Hood River Oregon and Educational Service District 112 in Vancouver Washington were visited between September 1 and December 1 of 1982 Materials and information about each district program was collected and summarized as soon after the visitation as possible The final phase of the research involved the formation of a five year plan for implementation of Mastery Learning strategies into small schools The most significant similarities in program development of the districts visited were examined to see if their effects upon small schools would be the same as in these larger districts Ultimately a plan was devised which took into consideration all the problems faced by the visited districts all their suggestions for changes and the knowledge of the researcher about small school characteristics strengths and weaknesses In the evolution of each program there were strong similarities which served as a partial guide to the preparation of a plan for small schools Important similarities among these districts include 1 The implementation of the Mastery Learning program must be based on identified need 2 A high level administrator usually the superintendent must supply continuous drive for the plan 3 The school board must be educated and dedicated to the use of Mastery Learning strategies to correct identified deficiencies 4 The program must evolve to fit the uniqueness of the need and the community 5 Teachers must be deeply involved in all phases of the development 6 Continuous and thorough training of teachers and administrators is necessary 7 The district's method of evaluating employees must be examined to insure compatibility with the program 8 The board must commit assistance and financial aid 9 Community information and education on a periodic basis is required 10 Mastery learning must be the focal point of training group work or some teacher supervisory contact each month during implementation The plan devised here to facilitate the development and implementation of Mastery Learning is based upon information gathered from the several sites recent research findings regarding Mastery Learning employment information gained at conferences on Mastery learning presented by the Network for Outcome based Schools and the unique characteristics of small schools It is the researcher's sincere belief that the knowledge gained through this research can be valuable to small school districts which are planning to implement a Mastery Learning program Document Building Effective Mastery Learning Schools James H. Block, Helen E. Efthim, Robert Bounds Burns, 1989 Improving Student Achievement Through Mastery Learning Programs Daniel U. Levine, 1985-05-01 Providing for Individual Differences in Student Learning Jackson F. Lee, Jr., K. Wayne Pruitt, 1984-10-01 From Wonder to Mastery John D. Mays, 2021 Science education is in need of transformation and the unique treatment detailed in From Wonder to Mastery is the place to start. In this book Novare Science founder John D Mays presents a powerful mastery learning model that has been proven to dramatically improve student learning in science. Drawing on more than two decades in the classroom and a previous career in engineering John has developed the unique approach to science education based on mastery learning that leads to long term retention that has been developed and honed through the Novare Science curricula. Designed for teachers parents and administrators From Wonder to Mastery contains all the vital content from Teaching Science So That Students Learn Science John's original guide to the Novare pedagogical philosophy. This new text also offers a wealth of additional content as well as an analysis of the research and literature on mastery learning. From Wonder to Mastery begins with a focus on the need to foster a sense of wonder and a kingdom perspective in the classroom and then goes on to explore how mastery learning can be supported through the 4 essential areas of integration with science epistemology mathematics history and language. The final 5 chapters describe John's mastery learning model in detail Mastery Learning Suzanne Stetson Kulas, 1992 Mastery Learning Kristin L. Deegan, 1997 Mastery learning as we know it today started with an assumption regarding student aptitude. Student aptitude was proposed not to be a fixed level of student intelligence or the level to which a child could learn a particular subject. Rather aptitude was proposed to be a measure of the time needed to learn a subject. Therefore all children could learn. Degree of learning was proposed as a function of the time spent divided by the time needed. Time spent was a factor of perseverance and opportunity to learn. Time needed was a factor of learning rate quality of instruction and ability to understand. From these basic Mastery Learning assumptions two programs were developed Bloom's Learning for Mastery and Keller's Personalized System of Instruction. What follows is an extensive description of the two programs and a synthesis of five major research studies regarding Mastery Learning. Often these articles were a meta analysis of other research studies. The main means of analysis is by finding the effect size. This synthesis of research examines the outcomes research regarding Mastery Learning in the areas of achievement retention of learning and student affect. Author's abstract
