Multiculturalism In Asia:

   Multiculturalism in Asia Will Kymlicka,Baogang He,2005-10-06 This volume explores the different ways that ethnic and religious diversity is conceptualized and debated in South and East Asia In the first few decades following decolonization talk of multiculturalism and pluralism was discouraged as states attempted to consolidate themselves as unitary and homogenizing nation states Today however it is widely recognized that states in the region must come to terms with the enduring reality of ethnic and religious cleavages and find new ways of accommodating and respecting diversity As a result many countries are now debating policies to accommodate minorities including recognition of indigenous rights minority language rights consociational power sharing regional autonomy and multination federalism This is often described as a key ingredient in any process of democratization in the region One manifestation of this new ethos is the growing rhetoric of multiculturalism often imported from the West And indeed Western models of minority rights have had an influence in many Asian countries often promoted by international organizations However Asian societies also have their own traditions of peaceful coexistence amongst linguistic and religious groups All of the major ethical and religious traditions in the region from Confucian and Buddhist to Islamic and Hindu have their own conceptions of tolerance and their own recipes for sustaining unity amidst diversity These traditions continue to shape people s beliefs and practices in the region Even the distinctive conception of Marxism developed in the region provides an influential perspective on these issues not found in the West The rhetoric of multiculturalism may be ubiquitous around the world but it is being used to express quite different ideas and norms Using both case studies and thematic essays this volume examines the pre colonial traditions colonial legacies and post colonial ideologies that influence contemporary debates on multiculturalism in the region It explores the areas of convergence and divergence between these different perspectives and the extent to which they provide viable frameworks for managing ethnic and religious diversity in the region   The Politics of Multiculturalism in the Asia/Pacific David A. Myers,1995-01-01 It is inevitable that the prevailing ideology of a nation whether overtly or covertly will predetermine a mono cultural language and literacy syllabus unless multicultural activists and ethnic minorities make their voices heard through the public media the purpose of literacy is not just to find a job Literacy is the vital key to an intelligent participation in self government by multicultural democracy David Myers Think of the benefits that could arise if Westerners began to make an effort to learn from the rich pool of knowledge stored in the languages of Australia and the Pacific instead of ignoring them or destroying them At a time when Western technology society and philosophy are in an almost permanent state of crisis solutions from outside philosophical systems may be particularly important Peter Muhlhausler Multiculturalism in Asia [electronic Resource.]. Will Kymlicka,2005   Multicultural Challenges and Redefining Identity in East Asia Nam-Kook Kim,2016-04-15 Globalization and increased migration have brought both new opportunities and new tensions to traditional East Asian societies Multicultural Challenges and Redefining Identity in East Asia draws together a wide range of distinguished local scholars to discuss multiculturalism and the changing nature of social identity in East Asia Regional specialists review specific events and situations in China Korea Japan Thailand Vietnam Singapore Taiwan Malaysia Indonesia and the Philippines to provide a focus on life as it is lived at the local level whilst also tracing macro discourses on the national issues affected by multiculturalism and identity The contributors look at the uneven multicultural development across these different countries and how to bridge the gap between locality and universality They examine how ethnic majorities and minorities can achieve individual rights exert civic responsibility and explain how to construct a deliberative framework to make sustainable democracy possible This book considers the emergence of a new cross national network designed to address multicultural challenges and imagines an East Asian community with shared values of individual dignity and multicultural diversity With strong empirical support it puts forward a regulative ideal by which a new paradigm for multicultural coexistence and regional cooperation can be realized Everyday Multiculturalism in/across Asia Jessica Walton,Anita Harris,Koichi Iwabuchi,2021-05-13 What does it mean to bring Asia into conversation with current literature on everyday multiculturalism This book focuses on the empirical theoretical and methodological considerations of using an everyday multiculturalism approach to explore the ordinary ways people live together in difference in the Asian region while also drawing attention to increasing trans Asian mobilities The chapters in this collection encompass inter disciplinary research undertaken in Australia Hong Kong Malaysia Singapore and South Korea that explores some core aspects of everyday multiculturalism as it plays out in and across Asia These include an increase in intraregional movements and especially labour mobility which demands regard for the experiences of migrants from Burma China Nepal The Philippines and India negotiations of cultural diversity in nations where a multi ethnic citizenry is formally recognised through predominantly pluralist models and or where national belonging is highly racialized and intercultural contestation against in some cases the backdrop of a newly emergent multicultural policy environment The book challenges and reinvigorates discussions around the relative transferability of an everyday multiculturalism framework to Asia including concepts such as super diversity conviviality and everyday racism and the importance of close attention to how people navigate differences and commonalities in local and trans local contexts This book will be of interest to academics and researchers studying migration multiculturalism ethnic and racial studies and to advanced students of Sociology Political Science and Public Policy It was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Reimagining Nation and Nationalism in Multicultural East Asia Sungmoon Kim,Hsin-wen Lee,2017-09-14 Since the late 1980s many East Asian countries have become more multicultural a process marked by increased democracy and pluralism despite the continuing influence of nationalism which has forced these countries in the region to re envision their nations Many such countries have had to reconsider their constitutional make up their terms of citizenship and the ideal of social harmony This has resulted in new immigration and border control policies and the revisiting of laws regarding labor policies sociopolitical discrimination and socioeconomic welfare This book explores new perspectives concepts and theories that are socially relevant culturally suitable and normatively attractive in the East Asia context It not only outlines the particular experiences of nation citizenship and nationalism in East Asian countries but also places them within the wider theoretical context The contributors look at how nationalism under the force of multiculturalism or vice versa affects East Asian societies including China Japan Korea Taiwan and Hong Kong differently The key themes are Democracy and equality Confucianism s relationship with nationalism cosmopolitanism and multiculturalism China s use of its political institutions to initiate and sustain nationalism the impact of globalization on nationalism in South Korea Taiwan and Japan the role of democracy in reinvigorating indigenous cultures in Taiwan Multiculturalism in East Asia Koichi Iwabuchi,, Hyun Mee Kim,, Hsiao-Chuan Hsia,2016-10-04 The first decade of the 21st century has witnessed the decline of multiculturalism as a policy in Western countries with tighter national border controls and increasing anti migration discourse But what is the impact of multiculturalism in East Asia How will East Asian nations develop their own policies on migration and multiculturalism What does cultural diversity mean for their future Multiculturalism in East Asia examines the development and impact of multiculturalism in East Asia with a focus on Japan South Korean and Taiwan It uses a transnational approach to explore key topics including policy racialized discourses on cultural diversity and the negotiation process of marginalized subjects and groups While making a contextualized analysis in each country contributors will consciously make a comparison and references to other East Asian cases while also situating this as well as put their case in a wider transnational context Managing Cultural Diversity in Asia Jawad Syed,Mustafa F. Èzbilgin,2010-01-01 This Companion provides an authoritative overview of how cultural diversity is managed in Asia Although the Asian context appears at first sight to be irreconcilably divergent in terms of diversity management approaches the contributing authors seek to explore thematic and geographical demarcations of the notions of cultural diversity and equality at work Managing Cultural Diversity in Asia not only examines cultural diversity management in a particular geography but also makes a distinct contribution to the wider theory of managing diversity and equality by revealing the significance of context time and place in framing policies and practices of management With empirical and conceptual contributions from eminent scholars from across the Asian continent as well as the Asian diaspora this volume highlights practices of equality and diversity management in settings across Asia and reveals the key drivers and implications of such practices This important and path breaking Companion will be an invaluable resource for both undergraduate and research based postgraduate students on international and comparative human resource management employment relations and industrial relations courses Multiculturalism and Conflict Reconciliation in the Asia-Pacific K. A. Yeoh,2013 This volume makes an important and unique contribution to scholarly understandings of migration and diversity through its focus on Asian contexts Current scholarship and literature on processes of migration and the consequences of diversity is heavily concentrated on Western contexts and their concerns with multiculturalism integration rights and responsibilities social cohesion social inclusion and cosmopolitanism In contrast there has been relatively little attention given to migration and growing diversity in Asian contexts which are constituted by highly distinct and varied histories cultures geographies and political economies This book fills this significant gap in the literature on migration studies with a concentrated focus on communities cities and countries in the Asian region that are experiencing increased levels of population mobility and subsequent diversity Not only does it offer analyses of the policies and processes of migration it also addresses the outcomes and implications of migration and diversity these include a focus on multiculturalism and citizenship in the Asian region the emerging complex forms of governance in response to increased diversity discussions of different settlement experiences and the practices of everyday life and encounters in increasingly diverse locales   The Asia-Pacific in the Age of Transnational Mobility Catherine Gomes,2016-12-01 The growing mobility of people within and into the Asia Pacific region has created environments of increasing diversity as nations become hosts to both permanent and temporary multicultural societies How do we begin to gauge the impact of mobility and multiculturalism on individuals and groups in this diverse region today The authors of The Asia Pacific in the Age of Transnational Mobility turn to social media as a tool of inquiry to map how mobile subjects and minorities articulate their sense of community and identity The authors see social media as a platform that allows users to document and express their individual and collective identities sometimes in restrictive communication environments while providing a sense of belonging and agency They present original empirical work that attempts to help readers understand how mobile subjects who circulate in the Asia Pacific create a sense of community for themselves and articulate their ethnic ideological and national identities   Multicultural Organizations in Asia Heidi Dahles,Loh Wei Leng,2014-02-04 A new study of how Asian Pacific organizations and private enterprises are expanding into markets beyond their national bases by transforming themselves in multinational and transnational directions It shows how multicultural relations are fundamental to such shifts It explains the organizational processes that characterize economic restructuring and the transgression of state borders by organizations seeking economic opportunities It shows how these ambitions require boundaries to be overcome both inside and outside of organizations This study also details the trend towards fluidity and complexity of boundaries both physical and symbolic within and without of organizations due to the speeding up of key processes This however does not imply that boundaries are disappearing Organizational change always challenges identities and sets new targets for this very identification Mergers acquisitions and strategic alliances all generate new organizational forms and necessitate the redefinition and renegotiation of organizational boundaries The manifold ways in which organizational boundaries are affected by economic restructuring and at the same time affect social processes within and between organizations in particular in the context of the booming economies of the Asia Pacific area is the focus of this volume This book was previously published as a special issue of the Asian Pacific Business Review Multiculturalism in Turbulent Times Christine Halse,Kerry J.
