Mirante,2007-12-01 Burmese Looking Glass is a contribution to the literature of human rights and to the literature of high adventure Los Angeles Times Book Review As captivating as the most thrilling novel Burmese Looking Glass tells the story of tribal peoples who though ravaged by malaria and weakened by poverty are unforgettably brave Author Edith T Mirante first crossed illegally from Thailand into Burma in 1983 There she discovered the hidden conflict that has despoiled the country since the close of World War II She met commandos and refugees and learned firsthand the machinations of Golden Triangle narcotics trafficking Mirante was the first Westerner to march with the rebels from the fabled Three Pagodas Pass to the Andaman Sea She taught karate to women soldiers was ritually tattooed by a Shan sayah spirit doctor lobbied successfully against US government donation of Agent Orange chemicals to the dictatorship and was deported from Thailand in 1988 A dramatic but caring book in which Mirante s blithe tone doesn t disguise her earnest concern for the worsening conditions faced by the Burmese hill tribes Kirkus Reviews A Grammar of Tauya Lorna MacDonald,2011-07-22 The series builds an extensive collection of high quality descriptions of languages around the world Each volume offers a comprehensive grammatical description of a single language together with fully analyzed sample texts and if appropriate a word list and other relevant information which is available on the language in question There are no restrictions as to language family or area and although special attention is paid to hitherto undescribed languages new and valuable treatments of better known languages are also included No theoretical model is imposed on the authors the only criterion is a high standard of scientific quality To discuss your book idea or submit a proposal please contact Birgit Sievert The Cult of the Dead in a Chinese Village ,1973-06 This study deals primarily with Ch inan a village in northern Taiwan whose residents belong to one ethnic group Hokkien speaking Chinese whose ancestors made the journey from the southeast coast of mainland China over 200 years ago It deals almost exclusively with the complex of institutions associated with the care and management of the dead The book covers the history of Ch inan and how the village is organized today making use of historical records such as lineage genealogies Sociological correlates of ancestor worship in ancestral halls and before domestic altars are examined The darker side of ancestor worship is also explored in which the dead stand out as dangerous creatures capable of harming or frightening the living Perspective is then expanded to other parts of Taiwan to consider how the form of the community affects the cult of the ancestors how different reciprocal obligations between the living the dead affect ancestor worship and in what ways people react to the obligations of ancestor worship

History and Magical Power in a Chinese Community P. Sangren,1987-09-01 This book is a case study of history and culture in the Taiwanese town of Ta ch i and the group of rural villages that constitute its standard marketing community However its scope exceeds that of most community studies The author attempts to construct a holistic view of Chinese culture from an analysis of the relationship between history and ritual in a particular locality The author argues that social institutions and collective representations are dialectically connected in the process of social and cultural reproduction He describes this dialectical process through an analysis of the key cultural concept of ling the magical power attributed to ghosts gods and ancestors In analyzing the symbolic logic of ling he asserts that it can be fully understood only as a product of the reproduction of social institutions and as a manifestation of a native historical consciousness Structuralist and Marxist insights are combined to explain how ling is best understood as both a cultural logic of symbolic relations and a material logic of social relations The book is in three parts Part I is a social and economic history that outlines what one might call an objectivist or positivist view of Ta ch i s history describing events as they were regardless of the perceptions of local participants This material is a background to the synchronic sociological analysis of local territorial cults that constitutes Part II In Part III the author unsettles the objectivist assumptions of Part I by showing how the idiom of ling underlies Taiwanese constructions of history and identity and how the cultural construction of history dialectically reproduces society and creates history The book is illustrated with 8 pages of photographs 17 line drawings and 9 maps
