Pakistan Democracy Development And Security Issues:

Pakistan Veena Kukreja, M P Singh, 2005-11-23 This collection of essays takes a fresh look at the contentious themes of democracy development and security in Pakistan today Using a variety of Pakistani Indian and Western sources the distinguished contributors examine the internal and external problems of Pakistan with an eye on the challenges that democracy has encountered in the country

Pakistan in Regional and Global Politics Rajshree Jetly, 2012-04-27 Pakistan is at currently at the centre of regional and global geo strategic issues as a frontline state in the global war on terrorism It is seeking to project itself as a modern Islamic state that can engage both the Islamic bloc and the western world in the post 9 11 era This book addresses some questions under the broad rubric of International Relations and Security It focuses on four themes Pakistan and global security Pakistan s international relations politics and identity in Pakistan and economic development of Pakistan Leading international experts have contributed articles within the framework of these themes

Political Survival in Pakistan Anas Malik, 2010-10-22 Presenting a framework that incorporates macro level forces into micro level strategic calculations this book explains key political choices by leaders and challengers in Pakistan through the political survival mechanism It offers an explanation for continuing polity weakness in the country and describes how political survival shapes the choices made by the leaders and challengers Using a unique analysis that synthesizes theories of weak states quasi states and political survival the book extends beyond rationalist accounts and the application of choice theoretical approaches to developing countries It challenges the focus on ideology and suggests that diverse religiously and ethnically defined affinity groups have interests that are represented in particular ways in weak state circumstances Extensive interviews with decision makers and polity participants combined with narrative accounts allow the author to examine decision making by leaders in a state bureaucratic machinery context as well as the complex mechanisms by which dissident affinity groups may support quasi state options This study can be used for comparisons in Islamic contexts and presents an interesting contribution to studies on South Asia as well as Political Development

Democratic Accountability and International Human Development Kamran Ali Afzal, Mark Considine, 2014-11-27 Scholars and policymakers have long known that there is a strong link between human development and spending on key areas such as education and health However many states still neglect these considerations in favour of competing priorities such as expanding their armies This book examines how states arrive at these decisions analysing how democratic accountability influences public spending and impacts on human development The book shows how the broader paradigm of democratic accountability extending beyond political democracy to also include bureaucratic and judicial institutions as well as taxation and other modes of resource mobilisation can best explain how states allocate public resources for human development Combining cross country regression analysis with exemplary case studies from Pakistan India Botswana and Argentina the book demonstrates that enhancing human capabilities requires not only effective party competition and fair elections but also a particular nesting of public organisational structures that are tied to taxpaying citizens in an undisturbed chain of accountability. It draws out vital lessons for institutional design and our approach to the question of human development particularly in the less developed states. This book will be of great interest to postgraduate students and researchers in the fields of political economy, public policy, governance and development. It also provides valuable insights for those working in the international relations field including inside major aid and investment organisations.

Globalization and Defence in the Asia-Pacific Geoffrey Till, Emrys Chew, Joshua Ho, 2009. This edited volume examines the impact of globalisation on the economies, security policies and military industrial complexes of the Asia Pacific region. The work is structured into three main parts. The first explores globalization and its general effects on the policy making of the nation state; the second section looks at how globalisation affects a country's threat perception and defence posture within the specific context of the Asia Pacific region; while the third explores how it impacts on a state's allocation of resources to defence and how economic globalization affects the defence industry with specific reference to the procurement policies and practices of different states across the Asia Pacific.

Asian Profile, 2009 National Development and Security, 1997 Bibliographic Index, 2008 Budgeting for Indian Defence V. N. Srinivas, 2008. Defence Budget is one of the most important segments of government expenditure in India. Firstly it is to do with the secretive nature of information pertaining to defence related issues. The second reason is due to general apathy towards defence related issues. From the national security point of view it is important that issues concerning defence are debated more widely that could lead to viable decision and policy making besides ensuring accountability by those in power. Contrary to popular perception a large amount of data both official and otherwise is indeed available through open sources to facilitate such a process. It is with this focus as a backdrop the current book addresses certain pertinent issues concerning defence budgeting process in the country.

Australian Foreign Policy in the Age of Terror Carl Ungerer, 2008. This textbook examines changes to Australian foreign policy since 9/11 and the rise of global Islamic terrorism. It covers each of the main areas of Australian foreign policy: security, trade, development, assistance, multilateral institutions and bilateral relations. The first section deals with the strategic dimensions of foreign policy; the second with global dimensions and the final section deals with regional or geographic dimensions. It is a critical examination of the transnational forces that are influencing the future conduct of Australian policy.
