Palaces Of Sin Or The Devil In Society:

"Palaces of Sin" Or, "The Devil in Society" Robert Seth McCallen, 1902 Palaces of Sin, Or the Devil in Society Col Dick Maple, 2017-12-16 Colonel Dick Maple was the fanciful pen name for Seth McCallen who penned a great many highly polemical works He wrote this particular work against alcohol and nightlife In particular he guards readers against women in corsets who drink or otherwise dabble in lifestyles or actions he finds unseemly The women in his stories often come to sad endings as a result of their desire to enjoy equal opportunities with men in vice and pleasure McCallen was far from a person anyone should take seriously He is known for writing and publishing some of the most extraordinarily vile and racist diatribes in The National Rip Saw In 1910 McCallen had a stroke but the publisher hired W S Morgan in order to imitate his hateful style Thankfully the style and messages were so unappealing and subscriptions dropped so low that the magazine had to send issues to random addresses to fulfill advertising terms "Palaces of Sin" Robert Seth McCallen, 1902 Moving Lessons Janice Ross, 2012-11 Moving Lessons is an insightful and sophisticated look at the origins and influence of dance in American universities focusing on Margaret H Doubler who established the first university courses and the first degree program in dance at the University of Wisconsin Dance educator and historian Janice Ross shows that H Doubler 1889 1982 was both emblematic of her time and an innovator who made deep imprints in American culture An authentic New Woman H Doubler emerged from a sheltered female Victorian world to take action in the public sphere She changed the way Americans thought not just about female physicality but also about higher education for women Ross brings together many discourses from dance history pedagogical theory women s history feminist theory American history and the history of the body in intelligent exciting and illuminating ways and adds a new chapter to each of them She shows how H Doubler like Isadora Duncan and other modern dancers helped to raise dance in the eyes of the middle class from its despised status as lower class entertainment and dangerous social interaction to a serious enterprise Taking a nuanced critical approach to the history of women s bodies and their representations Moving Lessons fills a very large gap in the history of dance education From the Mountain, From the Valley James Still, 2014-04-23 One of our greatest American poets In particular he has captured the spirit and language of the Appalachian South like no other Lee Smith New York Times bestselling author James Still first achieved national recognition in the 1930s as a poet Although he is better known today as a writer of fiction it is his poetry that many of his essential images such as the mighty river of earth first found expression Yet much of his poetry remains out of print or difficult to find From the Mountain From the Valley collects all of Still s poems including several never before published and corrects editorial mistakes that crept into previous collections The poems are presented in chronological order allowing the reader to trace the evolution of Still s voice Throughout his language is fresh and vigorous and his insight profound His respect for people and place never sounds sentimental or dated Ted Olson s introduction recounts Still s early literary career and explores the poetic origins of his acclaimed lyrical prose Still himself has contributed the illuminating autobiographical essay A Man Singing to Himself which will appeal to every lover of his work Still s is the distinctive voice of Appalachia and we are most fortunate to have his best work in this single beautiful volume Louisville Courier Journal Still works in traditional lyric forms and with traditional lyric tools Rarely does a poem need a second page The best poems are tight and demonstrate a quiet mastery even a humble virtuosity Journal of Appalachian Studies
