disturbing eloquence    A Russian Jew of Bloomsbury Galya Diment, 2011-10-17 Samuel Koteliansky 1880-1955 fled the pogroms of Russia in 1911 and established himself as a friend of many of Britain's literati and intellectuals who were fascinated by his homeland's more civilized side the Ballets Russes Tolstoy Dostoevsky and Chekhov Kot as he was known soon became an indispensable guide to Russian culture for England's leading writers artists and intellectuals who in turn helped introduce English audiences to Russian works A Russian Jew of Bloomsbury looks at the remarkable life and influence that an outsider had on the tightly knit circle of Britain's cultural elite Among Koteliansky's friends were Katherine Mansfield Leonard and Virginia Woolf for whose Hogarth Press he translated many Russian classics Mark Gertler Lady Ottoline Morrell H G Wells and Dilys Powell But it was his close and turbulent friendship with D H Lawrence with whom he had copious correspondence that proved to be Koteliansky's lasting legacy In a lively and vibrant narrative Galya Diment shows how despite Kot's determination he could never shake off the dark aspects of his past or overcome the streak of anti-Semitism that ran through British society and could be found in many of his famous literary friends A stirring account of the early twentieth century Jewish migr life and English and Russian letters A Russian Jew of Bloomsbury casts new light and shadows on the giants of English modernism    Mark Gertler ,    Reading Texts, Reading Lives Daniel Morris, Helen

Maxson, 2012-06-14 Our culture attempts to separate competing ideological factions by denying relationships between multiple perspectives and influences outside of one's own narrow interpretive community The distinguished essayists in this volume find Daniel R Schwarz's pluralistic self-questioning approach to what he calls reading texts and reading lives quite relevant to the current historical moment and political situation A legendary scholar of modernist literature Schwarz's critical principles are a healthy corrective to cultural hubris The essayists treat works ranging from fictions by Joyce Conrad Morrison and Woolf to the poetry of Yeats to Holocaust literature to the environmental writings of Wendell Berry to the photographs of Lee Friedlander The authors focus on different works but they follow Schwarz in stressing formal elements most often associated with traditional realism while keeping an eye on historical and author-centered approaches The essayists also follow Schwarz in their emphasis on narrative cohesion and in how they look for signs of agency among characters who possess the will to alter their fate even in a seemingly random universe such as the one depicted by Conrad Readers with eyes to ethics and aesthetics they follow Schwarz in encouraging a values-centered approach that leaves room for the reader to address the ways in which reading a text correlates to the reader's ability to find meaning and value in experience outside the text Like Schwarz the essays look for intentionality of authorial meaning rather than something called an author function as well as for the relationship between lived experience and the imagined world of the literary work rather than the endless semiotic play of an ultimately indecipherable text
