Margin For Surprise Abouts Children:

Constructing the Canon of Children's Literature Anne Lundin, 2004-10-15 In this pioneering historical study Anne Lundin argues that schools libraries professional organizations and the media together create and influence the constantly changing canon of children's literature Lundin examines the circumstances out of which the canon emerges and its effect on the production of children's literature The volume includes a comprehensive list of canonical titles for reference The Demise of the Library School Richard J. Cox, 2010 In The Demise of the Library School Richard J Cox places the present and future of professional education for librarianship in the debate on the modern corporate university The book is a series of meditations on critical themes relating to the education of librarians archivists and other information professionals playing off of other commentators analyzing the nature of higher education and its problems and promises How to Find Out about Children's Literature Alec Ellis, 1973 Playwork Practice at the Margins Jennifer Cartmel, Rick Worch, 2020-11-26 Playwork Practice at the Margins explores the circumstances where playwork practice intersects with practice from diverse contexts and settings encompassing disciplines such as health education early intervention and community development Each chapter focuses on a research project situated in a unique setting or space such as zoos hospitals refuges and rainforests In these settings the authors reflect on Playwork Principles and consider these in relation to the theory research design and findings of their project By presenting research from settings at the margins of traditional playwork the authors use shared values and principles to consider the significance of playwork when embedded in transdisciplinary work The book is underpinned by a model of reflective thinking that is used to examine how playwork practice is intertwined with knowledge from other disciplines With a range of international contributions from both researchers and practitioners this is the ideal text for academics and researchers in the fields of early childhood education allied health community development and social work disciplines as well as human geographers and practitioners in children's services worldwide Families on the Margins Lynn H. Turner, 2021-05-03 This book focuses on the diverse tapestry of families in contemporary U S culture Each chapter explores a different kind of family and examines their specific communication behaviors We live in times of increasing diversity that complicate our understandings of ourselves as well as others who may be quite different from us These complexities also impact our definition of family in addition to our interpretation of family communication behaviors This book provides an examination of family communication practices in families that are underrepresented in the research of the discipline and underserved in U S culture immigrant families family members in interracial relationships LGBTQ families low income Latinx families families with an incarcerated parent and families headed by grandparents The book is an initial effort to expand the lens of family communication scholarship to focus on families on the margins Through a variety of sometimes unique methods including textual analysis in depth interviews and analysis of art projects collected at a Pride festival each chapter in this collection adds to our knowledge of how we define family and how families communicate in the 21st century The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of the Journal of Family Communication
