Wearing the Green Beret Jake Olafsen, 2012-01-17 With the authenticity of Jarhead and Bravo Two Zero and the straight up narrative of Contact Charlie this military memoir describes what really goes on in the training of an elite soldier and his tours in Afghanistan In 2004 Jake Olafsen signed up for the Royal Marines Commandos He left everything behind at home in Canada on the basis of a spur of the moment decision The Royal Marines have the toughest and longest basic training of any infantry unit in the world For Olafsen this meant eight months of wet and cold in England and Wales It was hell but he came out with the four Commando qualities that the corps look for courage determination unselfishness cheerfulness in the face of adversity Olafsen went on to serve for four years as a Commando in the Royal Marines an elite military unit based in the United Kingdom He went to Afghanistan twice in 2006 he went to confront the Taliban in Helmand Province for six months and in 2007 he was sent to do it all over again His story is filled with good experiences like the sense of accomplishment patriotism and camaraderie and the opportunity to travel the world But all good things come at a price The sacrifices he made for the Corps are significant he has killed the enemy and he has buried his friends And in telling his story Olafsen hopes that he can make sense of it all This is an honest gutsy story about the mud and the blood the triumphs and the tragedies From the Hardcover edition 47

Burchell, 2018 With a heritage dating back to the mid seventeenth century the Royal Marines have accrued a rich history of rituals artefacts and material culture that is consciously deployed in order to define and shape the institution both historically and going forward into an uncertain future Drawing upon this heritage Mark Burchell offers a unique method of understanding how the Royal Marines draw upon this material culture in order to help transform ordinary labour power to political agency comprising acts of controlled and sustained violence He demonstrates how a barrage of objects and items including uniforms weapons landscapes architecture personal kit drills rituals and iconography are deployed in order successfully to integrate the recruits into the Royal Marines culture It is argued that this material culture is a vital tool with which to imprint the military's own image on new recruits as they embark on a process of de individualisation
