Maternal Newborn Nursing A Family Centered Approach:

Maternal-newborn Nursing Sally B. Olds, Marcia L. London, Patricia W. Ladewig, 1992 An essential manual encompassing the entire childbearing process from preconception planning through pregnancy birth and the postpartum period. Content progresses from normal to at risk information within each phase pregnancy labor and birth care of the newborn and the postpartum period. Cultural aspects of childbearing and material on the childbearing adolescent are integrated appropriately throughout. Every page has been updated to reflect the most current research and technology. The underlying philosophy of the text however remains unchanged pregnancy and birth are normal life processes members of the family are co participants in care and the nursing process provides the nursing diagnoses. Each of the learning aids reflected in this new edition has been grounded in that philosophy and commitment to a family centered approach.

Family-centered Maternity Care Celeste R. Phillips, 2003 Family Centered Maternity Care is an approach to providing care for women and their families that integrates pregnancy, childbirth, postpartum and infant care into the continuum of the family life cycle as normal healthy life events. The care provided is individualized and recognizes the importance of family support participation and choice. Family Centered Maternity Care offers strategies and methods to bring this philosophy into maternity service operations in hospitals. This text is intended to help physicians and nurses promote quality care for families in their practice. It provides examples for developing Family Centered Maternity Care programs in hospitals policies and procedures for implementing such programs sample forms and even assessment criteria for hospitals to evaluate their level of compliance with Family Centered Maternity Care standards. Family Centered Maternity Care is an effective method of ensuring patient and family education and involvement in care as well as providing the caregiver with a sense of fulfillment and commitment to care. Family Centered Maternity Care is an incomparable resource to help all birth centers and hospitals achieve this optimum level of healthcare delivery.
