Nurturing Development Aid And Cooperation In Todays Changing World:

Nurturing Development Ismail Serageldin,1995 Development Cooperation and Emerging Powers Sachin Chaturvedi,Thomas Fues,Elizabeth Sidiropoulos,2012-05-10 The current framework of development cooperation is dominated by the experiences of industrialized countries But emerging economies have begun to accelerate their own development programmes and attempts to bring them into existing aid models have been met with caution and reservation This expert topical volume explores the development policies of Brazil China India Mexico and South Africa analysing how South South cooperation has evolved and where it differs from traditional development cooperation This vital new collection brings together first hand experience from these countries to provide a forward looking analysis of the current global architecture of development cooperation and of the possible convergence of traditional and emerging development actors The World Bank and Social Transformation in International Politics David Williams,2012-08-21 In the 1990s the World Bank changed its policy to take the position that the problems of poverty and governance are inextricably linked and improving the governance of its borrower countries became increasingly accepted as a legitimate and important part of the World Bank s development activities This book examines why the World Bank came to see good governance as important and evaluate what the World Bank is doing to improve the governance of its borrower countries David Williams examines changing World Bank policy since the late 1970s to show how a concern with good governance grew out of the problems the World Bank was experiencing with structural adjustment lending particularly in Sub Saharan Africa The book provides an account of the early years of the World Bank and traces the increasing acceptance of the idea of good governance within the Bank through the 1990s while systematically relating the policies of good governance to liberalism The author provides a detailed case study of World Bank lending to Ghana to demonstrate what the attempt to improve governance looks like in practice Williams assesses whether the World Bank has been successful in its attempts to improve governance and draws out some of the implications of the argument for how we should think about sovereignty for how we should understand the connections between liberalism and international politics This book will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations politics economics development and African studies Making Cities Work Richard Gilbert,Don Stevenson,Herbert Girardet,Richard Stren,2013-11-05 For too long cities have been thought of as environmental blackspots with high levels of air and soil pollution overcrowding poor sanitation and growing waste disposal problems This book takes a more positive attitude cities can be made to work sustainably Their high population density can work in the environment s favour if they can achieve efficient use of resources such as energy and water supplies and improve transport and infrastructure The best cities today are clean resource efficient green and pleasant and not only act as cultural and entertainment centres but also harbour great varieties of wildlife Making Cities Work looks at the vital role which local authorities can and must play in safeguarding and developing our towns and cities Their role is crucial and the aim of the book is to make governments international bodies and local authority associations aware of how potential environmental and social problems can be overcome and what can be achieved This book is being written by urban development experts based on material supplied by the world's leading city associations It is being edited by one of the world's most highly regarded cultural ecologists and has been commissioned by UNHCS for the Habitat II conference Clearly written accessible and fully illustrated throughout with photographs figures and graphs it is ideal for students fascinating reading for the general public and essential for those involved in local authorities planning and development Transforming Settlement in Southern Africa Chris de Wet, 2020-03-31 This volume examines the ways in which changing political and economic processes impact upon patterns of population movement and settlement It focuses on the southern African region as it has moved from the experiments of the early independence era through civil war and refugee flight into the current era characterised by globalization and the demise of apartheid Focused case studies from across the region deal with specific aspects of these transformations and their policy implications Risks and Reconstruction Michael M. Cernea, Chris McDowell, 2000-01-01 This book offers a multidimensional comparative analysis of two large groups of the world's displaced populations resettlers uprooted by development and refugees fleeing military conflicts or natural calamities The authors explore common central issues the condition of being displaced the risks of impoverishment and destitution the rights and entitlements of those uprooted and most important the means of reconstruction of their livelihoods Adapt de l Introduction A Parliament of Science Michael Tobias, Teun Timmers, Gill Wright, 2003-09-11 Interviews with scientific leaders focus on the challenges promises and perils of science and technology Aid John Degenbol-Martinussen, Poul Engberg-Pedersen, 2003 This is the most comprehensive and up to date analysis of the global aid scene Publishing and Development Philip G. Altbach, Damtew Teferra, 1998 Co published with the Obor Foundation this volume of readings is published to assist in worldwide efforts to support publishing in developing countries Recognising the crucial need for an indigenous publishing industry the volume illustrates the great variation in the development of publishing across the developing world The chapters are reprints of key contributions from experts in the field to the main issues and cover current trends in book publishing multinationals and third world publishing the economics of book publishing international copyright distribution the neglected link in the publishing chain educational publishing and book provision the transition from state to commercial publishing systems in African countries electronic publishing new technologies and publishing and publishing in the third world issues and trends for the twenty first century The Regional Impacts of Climate Change Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change.
