Apocalypse in Australian Fiction and Film Roslyn Weaver, 2014-01-10 Australia has been a frequent choice of location for narratives about the end of the world in science fiction and speculative works ranging from pre colonial apocalyptic maps to key literary works from the last fifty years This critical work explores the role of Australia in both apocalyptic literature and film Works and genres covered include Nevil Shute's popular novel On the Beach Mad Max children's literature Indigenous writing and cyberpunk The text examines ways in which apocalypse is used to undermine complacency foretell environmental disasters critique colonization and to serve as a means of protest for minority groups Australian apocalypse imagines Australia at the ends of the world geographically and psychologically but also proposes spaces of hope for the future

Periphery Lynne Jamneck, 2012-05 Periphery is as much about the female perspective of the future as it is an exploration of individual identity in a world increasingly dominated by technology How do we define our humanity if not by the way we connect to others Yet even in the realm of the physical and the sensual technology continues to change perspectives on what it means to be human Through the stories collected in Periphery we experience the intersection between a number of possible futures and how we will continue to discover through our fallible emotions what it means to be human
