Materialist Feminisms:

Materialist Feminisms Donna Landry, Gerald McLean, 1993-10-08 Materialist Feminisms investigates the crucial theoretical and political debates that have determined the course of British and American feminism over the last thirty years. As intellectual terrain has shifted during these decades from Marxism to cultural materialism and poststructuralist literary theory, questions of race and ethnicity, sexuality, postcoloniality and green politics have converged and sometimes collided with the categories within feminism but analyze many of the most important texts and movements of contemporary cultural theory. Offering not so much a unified history as an analysis of important moments within these debates, this book examines the work of such feminist theorists as Michelle Barrett, Judith Butler, Rosalind Coward, Donna Haraway, bell hooks, the m/f collective, Tania Modleski, Jacqueline Rose, Gayle Rubin, Hortense Spillers and Gayatri Spivak. Materialist Feminisms includes new exemplary readings of feminist detective, African American and postcolonial fiction, three kinds of textures: commodity, currently fetishized in the literary marketplace; What might the success of these kinds of writing signify about politics and desire in contemporary Anglo American culture? Demonstrating how the poststructuralist critique of essences and identities need not end in a complete paralysis of political action as has sometimes been claimed, Materialist Feminisms argues that feminism, socialism and deconstruction are not theoretical dead ends but names for unfinished business. Materialist

Feminism Rosemary Hennessy, Chrys Ingraham, 1997 During the 1980s, capitalism triumphantly secured its global reach; anti-communist ideologies hammered home socialism's inherent failure; the New Left increasingly moved into the professional middle class and many of feminism's earlier priorities were marginalized. Identity politics, often formulated in terms of social reconstructionism or multiculturalism, has increasingly suppressed materialist feminism's systematic perspective, replacing it with discourse analysis or cultural politics. Materialist Feminism: A Reader argues against the retreat to multiculturalism for keeping invisible the material links among the explosion of meaning-making practices in highly industrialized social sectors, the exploitation of women's labor and the appropriation of women's bodies that continues to undergird the scramble for profits and state power in multinational capitalism. Materialist Feminism and the Politics of Discourse (RLE Feminist Theory) Rosemary Hennessy, 2012-11-27 Materialist Feminism and the Politics of Discourse confronts the impasses in materialist feminist work on rethinking woman as a discursively constructed subject. The book looks at the problem of examining critically the social dimensions on which theories of discourse are premised; how such theories understand materiality; the relation between women's experience and feminist politics; and that between history and discourse. Rosemary Hennessy considers the work of Kristeva, Foucault, Laclau and Mouffe and argues for a materialist feminist re-articulation of discourse as ideology. Concerns over identity and difference are incorporated into a rewriting of materialist feminism's analysis of women's oppression across capitalist and patriarchal structures. In adapting postmodernist theories in this way, Hennessy develops a project of social change where feminism, while maintaining its specificity, is necessarily aligned with other emancipatory movements      Mattering Victoria Pitts-Taylor, 2016-08-30 Feminists today are reimagining nature biology and matter in feminist thought and critically addressing new developments in biology physics neuroscience epigenetics and other scientific disciplines Mattering edited by noted feminist scholar Victoria Pitts Taylor presents contemporary feminist perspectives on the materialist or naturalizing turn in feminist theory and also represents the newest wave of feminist engagement with science The volume addresses the relationship between human corporeality and subjectivity questions and redefines the boundaries of human non human and nature culture elaborates on the entanglements of matter knowledge and practice and addresses biological materialization as a complex and open process This volume insists that feminist theory can take matter and biology seriously while also accounting for power taking materialism as a point of departure to rethink key feminist issues The contributors an international group of feminist theorists scientists and scholars apply concepts in contemporary materialist feminism to examine an array of topics in science biotechnology biopolitics and bioethics These include neuralplasticity and the brain machine interface the use of biometrical identification technologies for transnational border control epigenetics and the intergenerational transmission of the health effects of social stigma ADHD and neuropharmacology and randomized controlled trials of HIV drugs A unique and interdisciplinary collection Mattering presents in grounded concrete terms the need for rethinking disciplinary boundaries and research methodologies in light of the shifts in feminist theorizing and transformations in the sciences      Encyclopedia of Feminist Literary Theory Elizabeth Kowaleski-Wallace, 2009-03-23 First Published in 1997 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company      Companion to Feminist Studies Nancy A. Material Feminisms: New Directions for Education Carol Taylor,Gabrielle Ivinson,2018-02-02 Material Feminisms New Directions for Education provides a range of powerful theoretical and innovative methodological examples to illuminate how new material feminism can be put to work in education to open up new avenues of research design and practice It poses challenging questions about the nature of knowledge production the role of the researcher and the critical endeavour arising from inter and post disciplinarity Working with diffractive methodologies and new materialist ecological epistemologies the book offers resources for hope which widen the scope for how educational problems are interrogated and provides a political counter movement to neo positivist outcomes based approaches within education Inspired by writers such as Barad Bennett and Deleuze and Guattari the book makes a radical break with cognitive dualist and universal conceptions of human subjectivity and intelligence in education By taking its starting point as the co constitutiveness of discourse materiality corporeality and place the book foregrounds educational practices as material enactments of multiple non linear entangled affective and relational forces It offers new insights into how gender class and ethnicity are constituted in and by material assemblages that are often submerged or unseen This book is an essential starting place for those intrigued by what new theoretical accounts of materiality posthumanism and affect can offer educational research Diffractive methodologies challenge readers to take a fuller range of actors into account than in objective humanist methodologies and in so doing to pay closer attention to what data is It invites researchers to engage with long standing feminist concerns about power and knowledge production in research processes This book was originally published as a special issue of Gender and Education

Material Feminisms Stacy Alaimo, Susan J. Hekman, 2008 Harnessing the energy of provocative theories generated by recent understandings of the human body the natural world and the material world Material Feminisms presents an entirely new way for feminists to conceive of the question of materiality In lively and timely essays an international group of feminist thinkers challenges the assumptions and norms that have previously defined studies about the body These wide ranging essays grapple with topics such as the material reality of race the significance of sexual difference the impact of disability experience and the complex interaction between nature and culture in traumatic events such as Hurricane Katrina By insisting on the importance of materiality this volume breaks new ground in philosophy feminist theory cultural studies science studies and other fields where the body and nature collide Materialist Feminism Toril Moi, Janice A. Radway, 1994

Materialist feminism is not an unproblematic term Its relationship to what was called socialist feminism in the 1970s and early 1980s is far from clear This special issue of SAQ does not resolve these questions Instead of providing a theory of materialist feminism in the abstract the authors have tried to build up a provisional tentative picture of what a materialist feminism might look like in the 1990s Material Feminisms Stacy Alaimo, Susan Hekman, 2008-01-02 Harnessing the energy of provocative theories generated by recent understandings of the human body the natural world and the material world Material Feminisms presents an entirely new way for feminists to conceive of the question of materiality In lively and timely essays an international group of feminist thinkers challenges the assumptions and norms that have previously defined studies about the body These wide ranging essays grapple with topics such as the material reality of race the significance of sexual difference the impact of disability experience and the complex interaction between nature and culture in traumatic events such as Hurricane Katrina By insisting on the importance of materiality this volume breaks new ground in philosophy feminist theory cultural studies science studies and other fields where the body and nature collide Feminism and Materialism Annette Kuhn, Ann Marie Wolpe, 2012-10-11 These original essays are planned to provide a coherent basis for an understanding of women's social and historical situation This achieved by outlining the foundation of a systematic approach to an analysis of women's relationship to modes of production and reproduction within a materialist framework The essays each with a brief editorial introduction deal with issues and perspectives brought increasingly to the fore in recent years not only in the women's movement but in the social sciences generally The articles are wide ranging covering such issues as patriarchy paid and unpaid labour and the state The centrality of two of the major themes the family and the labour process suggests that an understanding of women's situation is necessarily based on an analysis of the structures of production and reproduction The authors aim in producing Feminism and Materialism is to confront systematically theoretical issues current in the developing area of women's studies while recognising that this must constitute a critique of existing theoretical frameworks The book will be of interest to teachers and students in the social sciences and in women's studies as well as to all those who wish to develop an understanding of what a materialist approach to feminism might be Ludic Feminism and After Teresa L. Ebert, 1996 A provocative and controversial challenge to postmodern academic feminism Feminism and Materialism (RLE Feminist Theory) Annette Kuhn, AnnMarie Wolpe, 2013-05-20 These original essays are planned to provide a coherent basis for an understanding of women's social and historical situation This achieved by outlining the foundation of a systematic approach to an analysis of women's relationship to modes of production and reproduction within a materialist framework The essays each with a brief editorial introduction deal with issues and perspectives brought increasingly to the fore in recent years not only in the women's movement but in the social sciences generally The articles are wide ranging covering such issues as patriarchy paid and unpaid labour and the state The centrality of two of the major themes the family and the labour process suggests that an understanding of women's situation is necessarily based on an analysis of the structures of production and reproduction The authors aim in producing Feminism and Materialism is to confront systematically theoretical issues current in the developing area of women's studies while recognising that this must constitute a critique of existing theoretical frameworks The book will be of interest to teachers and students in the social sciences and in women's studies as well as to all those who wish to develop an understanding of what a materialist approach to feminism might be Brazilian Feminisms Solange Ribeiro de Oliveira, Judith Still, 1999 Close to Home Christine Delphy, 2016-09-06 Classic analysis of gender relations and patriarchy under capitalism Close to Home is the classic study of family patriarchal ideologies and the politics and strategy of women's liberation On the table in this forceful and provocative debate are questions of whether men can be feminists whether bourgeois and heterosexual women are retrogressive members of the women's movement and how best to struggle against the multiple oppressions women endure Rachel Hills's foreword to this new edition explores how Christine Delphy's analysis of marriage as the institution behind the exploitation of unpaid women's labor is as radical and relevant today as it ever was A New Theory of Human Rights Alison Assiter, 2021-03-01 This book offers a new materialist thesis that focuses on the dynamic biological core of humans shared with other animals and the rest of the natural world to develop a radical theory of human rights It therefore makes a unique contribution to literature and to academic and societal debates both on new materialisms and on human rights Many on the political far right deride the concept of a human right This has occurred in tandem with a growing contempt for the rule of law and for obligations to protect land or the environment to recognize the rights of minorities or even to respect the various mechanisms of democracy On the other hand contemporary left wing inspired literature has also rejected the concept of a human right as Enlightenment inspired and western This has gone hand in hand with a contestation of essentialism and universalism These theoretical positions have been variously critiqued as racist sexist as well as Eurocentric Drawing on metaphysics and ethics with protagonists drawn from traditions across analytic and continental philosophy and feminist theory Assiter challenges these critics to form a distinctive new materialist position Most people defenders and critics take for granted that the concept of human rights and the universal view of humanity derive from the European Enlightenment However this book develops a different story of its origin from the earlier period of both Aristotle and the Zoroastrian Persian Empire and locates the concept of a right partly in our biological core yet challenges the assumption that this is constructed by language of any kind specifically including scientific discourse
