Models Of Viral Hepatitis Vol 25hc2005:

Models of Viral Hepatitis Fritz von Weizsäcker, Michael Roggendorf, W. Preiser, 2005 Viral hepatitis B or C is the most common cause of chronic liver disease worldwide and accounts for about 80% of all hepatocellular carcinoma cases. Thus combating viral hepatitis remains one of the most pressing public health issues today. Animal models and cell based systems are essential tools for addressing the many still unresolved basic and clinical problems. Experimental models are needed to better understand the viral life cycles, pathogenetic aspects and natural defense mechanisms while preclinical models are required for evaluating novel preemptive and therapeutic strategies. This monograph provides a unique synopsis of currently available models of viral hepatitis highlighting their particular use for basic and translational science. Leading experts discuss new scientific results and evolving methods in various animal and in vitro models including the woodchuck, duck, mouse, chimpanzee and tupaia as well as primary hepatocytes and subgenomic HCV replicons. A valuable single source of information, this book will be of interest to all investigators and clinicians working in the fields of viral hepatitis and/or hepatology.

Viral Hepatitis E.A. Fagan, T.J. Harrison, 2000-06-15 This book aims to bridge the widening rift between clinical and molecular aspects of viral hepatitis by providing an up to date overview of the field. The focus is practical and covers the limitations of clinical diagnosis, the interpretation of tests, and the use of new diagnostic tools.
