Nationalist Passions Stuart J. Kaufman, 2015-11-06 Nationalist and ethnic conflict can take many forms from genocidal violence and civil war to protest movements and peaceful squabbles in democracies Nationalist Passions poses a stark challenge to extreme rationalist understandings of political conflict Stuart J Kaufman elaborates a compelling theory of ethnic politics to explain why ethnic violence erupts in some contexts and how peace is maintained in others At the core of Kaufman s theory is an assertion that conflicts are initiated due to popular symbolic predispositions biases of all kinds and perceptions of threat Kaufman puts his theory to the test in a range of conflicts He examines some highly violent episodes among them the Muslim rebellion in the southern Philippines beginning in the 1970s the civil war in southern Sudan that began in the 1980s and the Rwanda genocide of 1994 Kaufman also analyzes other situations in which leaders attempted to tame the violence that nationalist passions can generate In India Mahatma Gandhi mobilized an overtly nonviolent movement but failed in his efforts to prevent the rise of Muslim Hindu communal violence In South Africa Nelson Mandela and F W de Klerk ended apartheid but not without terrible cost more than fifteen thousand people died while the negotiations were under way In Tanzania however Julius Nyerere led one of the few ethnically diverse countries in the world with almost no ethnic violence Nationalist Passions is essential reading for policymakers international aid workers and all others who seek to find the best possible outcomes for future internal and interstate clashes Building a Peaceful Nation Paul Bjerk, 2015 A compelling account of the establishment of Tanzania s stable and ambitious government in the face of external threats and internal turmoil The Last Great Safari Corey W. Reigel, 2015-04-22 In The Last Great Safari East Africa in World War I military historian Corey W Reigel explores a fascinating and misunderstood theater of operations in the history of the First World War Unprepared for the Great War colonial units combined modern industrial weapons and equipment with traditional African methods to produce a hybrid force Throughout The Last Great Safari Reigel challenges myth after myth Were really one million Allied soldiers pulled up from Europe to toil in the tropical sun only to fall victim to local diseases Did the Germans truly become masters of guerrilla warfare and humiliate the British Empire in what appeared a David versus Goliath conflict Reigel brings together traditional military studies and African history to explore the myths fables and stereotypes that have long characterized examinations of this topic from questions as to how German East Africa contributed to the fate of the war to claims respecting significant diversion of resources Racism played a significant role in then prevalent definitions of what constituted military success and in how Africans and Indians were recruited holding more sway in the minds of white armies as a success factor than differences in weapons Reigel points out how modern methods of medicine and transportation ultimately failed only to be replaced by a hybrid of industrial Europe and traditional African solutions for dealing with an especially difficult climate In the end when necessity came to outweigh then current ideas of professionalism did German forces outfight their opponents The Last Great Safari East Africa in World War I will interest students of military history African studies and World War I as this tale of colonial warfare within a war of attrition shaped part of Africa's colonial future
