Klosterman, Richard K. Brail, Earl G. Bossard, 1993 The book and accompanying disk use the capabilities of electronic spreadsheet programs to provide 19 spreadsheet models that can be used for a wide range of urban and regional analysis and planning applications The models have been developed for Lotus 1 2 3 Version 1 00 for the IBM personal computer and compatible systems and can be adapted for use with other spreadsheet programs Urban and Regional Models in Geography and Planning Alan Geoffrey Wilson, 1974 Analytical models for urban and regional planning Ian Masser, 1972 Models in Planning C. Lee, 2016-06-06 Models in Planning An Introduction to the Use of Quantitative Models in Planning focuses on some of the techniques utilized for the construction of urban and regional models with emphasis on the understanding of model structure rather than on rigorous mathematical analysis Organized into eight chapters this book begins by explaining the role of models in the planning process Subsequent chapters elucidate the principles for the design and use of models and the mathematical preliminaries involved The different models namely linear gravity and Lowry models are also described including their optimization This material will be very useful for students and practicing planners with a limited numerate background It will allow readers to follow up the extensive literature dealing with the more complex operational versions of the discussed models Models in Urban Planning Alan Geoffrey Wilson, 1968 Simulation Models in Urban and Regional Planning Kenneth J. Schlager, 1964 Modeling Cities and Regions as Complex Systems Roger White, Guy Engelen, Inge Uljee, 2015-09-11 The theory and practice of modeling cities and regions as complex self organizing systems presenting widely used cellular automata based models theoretical discussions and applications Cities and regions grow or occasionally decline and continuously transform themselves as they do so This book describes the theory and practice of modeling the spatial dynamics of urban growth and transformation As cities are complex adaptive self organizing systems the most appropriate modeling framework is one based on the theory of self organizing systems an approach already used in such fields as physics and ecology The book presents a series of models most of them developed using cellular automata CA which are inherently spatial and computationally efficient It also provides discussions of the theoretical methodological and philosophical issues that arise from the models A case study illustrates the use of these models in urban and regional planning Finally the book presents a new dynamic theory of urban spatial structure that emerges from the models and their applications The models are primarily land use models but the more advanced ones also show the dynamics of population and economic activities and are integrated with models in other domains such as economics demography and transportation The result is a rich and realistic representation of the spatial dynamics of a variety of urban phenomena The book is unique in its coverage of both the general issues associated with complex self organizing systems and the specifics of designing and implementing models of such systems Analytical Models for Urban and Regional Planning Ian Masser,1972 Some Mathematical Models for Urban and Regional Planning Folke Snickars,1978 Models in Planning Colin Lee,1980 Models of Urban and Regional Systems in Developing Countries George F. Chadwick,1987 This work is concerned with the understanding of the structure and behaviour of urban and regional systems in developing countries Professor Chadwick considers not only how such systems change but also how they might be changed by some form of manipulation Both these purposes necessarily involve the activity of modelling the systems concerned This study has been enriched by the author s own experience in Bahrain Hong Kong Korea and Saudi Arabia Sensitivity Models for Urban and Regional Planning Alexander von Hesler,1981 Global Models of Urban Planning Roger L.
