Models Of Thinking:

Models of Thinking Frank George, 2015-07-24 In this volume originally published in 1970 an attempt is made to examine the more logical aspects of thinking such as the ability to abstract and the manner in which concepts develop The author describes the features that had long been regarded as central to thinking by experimental and theoretical psychologists of the time and he places more emphasis on the part played by language in cognitive activity In the second part the author points out how such basic features of thinking as concept and hypothesis formation inference making and the use of ordinary English are essentially things that can be carried out by a computer His use of theories and his methods of modelling the human brain and the way it works comprise an intriguing and highly sophisticated attempt to provide an appropriate framework in which problems of thinking can be studied Professor George was the author of several books the best known of which at the time were The Brain as a Computer and Cybernetics and Biology His writings covered many aspects of psychology philosophy and logic as well as cybernetics At the time of original publication he was Professor of Cybernetics at Brunel University and Chairman of the Bureau of Information Science Think in Models Nick

Mental Models Andreas Janes, 2019-05-12 A mental model is simply a representation of how something works We cannot keep all of the details of the world in our brains so we use models to simplify the complex into understandable and organizable chunks In this book you will learn What are Mental Models Great thinking and decision making What kind of Mental Models exist Tools for Thinking Better Best way to make an intelligent decision How Mental Models unlock your thinking Mental models are like giving a treasure map to someone lost in the woods They provide instant understanding context and most importantly a path to the end destination Now imagine having such a map for all problems and decisions in your life Mental models are how we understand the world Not only do they shape what we think and how we understand but they shape the connections and opportunities that we see Mental models are how we simplify complexity why we consider some things more relevant than others and how we reason The quality of our thinking is proportional to the models in our head and their usefulness in the situation at hand The more models you have the bigger your toolbox the more likely you are to have the right models to see reality It turns out that when it comes to improving your ability to make decision variety matters Most of us however are specialists Instead of a latticework of mental models we have a few from our discipline Each specialist sees something different By default a typical Engineer will think in systems A psychologist will think in terms of incentives A biologist will think in terms of evolution By putting these disciplines together in our head we can walk around a problem in a three dimensional way If we re only looking at the problem one way we ve got a blind spot And blind spots can kill you
