Muller v. Oregon Nancy Woloch, 1996-04-15 In 1908 the Supreme Court unanimously upheld an Oregon law that set a ten hour limit on the workdays of women in factories and laundries. Using lawyers' briefs, arguments over single sex protective laws and other major court decisions, Nancy Woloch examines a moment in which constitutional history, women's history and progressive politics converged. Muller V. Decision of the United States Supreme Court in Curt Muller Vs; State of Oregon Louis D., 2019 Muller V. Oregon (1908), Ex Parte Young (1908), Twining V. New Jersey (1908). Philip B. Kurland, Gerald Gunther, 1975 A Class by Herself Nancy Woloch, 2017-02-28 A Class by Herself explores the historical role and influence of protective legislation for American women workers both as a step toward modern labor standards and as a barrier to equal rights. Spanning the twentieth century, the book tracks the rise and fall of women-only state protective laws such as maximum hour laws, minimum wage laws, and night work laws from their roots in progressive reform through the passage of New Deal labor law to the feminist attack on single sex protective laws in the 1960s and 1970s. Nancy Woloch considers the network of institutions that promoted women-only protective laws such as the National Consumers League and the federal Women's Bureau, the global context in which the laws arose, the challenges that proponents faced, the rationales they espoused, the opposition that evolved, the impact of protective laws in ever changing circumstances, and their dismantling in the wake of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Above all, Woloch examines the constitutional conversation that the laws provoked, the debates that arose in the courts and in the women's movement. Protective laws set precedents that led to the Fair Labor

Standards Act of 1938 and to current labor law they also sustained a tradition of gendered law that abridged citizenship and impeded equality for much of the century Drawing on decades of scholarship institutional and legal records and personal accounts A Class by Herself sets forth a new narrative about the tensions inherent in women only protective labor laws and their consequences Rhetorical Processes and Legal Judgments Austin Sarat,2016-09 This detailed analysis offers new perspectives on rhetoric and law from distinguished scholars Digest of the American and English Annotated Cases, Volumes 1-20 ,1912 Lawyers Reports Annotated ,1910 The Lawyers Reports Annotated ,1910 Annotated Cases, American and English ,1909 American and English Annotated Cases ,1909 Reports of Cases Decided in the Court of Appeals of the State of New York New York (State).
