Multilateralism And Regionalism In The Post Uruguay Round Era What Role For The Eu:

Multilateralism and Regionalism in the Post-Uruguay Round Era Olga Memedovic, A. Kuyvenhoven, Willem T.M.

Molle, 2012-12-06 The Post Uruguay Round era has seen a proliferation of regional preferential trade agreements PTAs as well as progressive multilateral trade liberalization initiatives. This has stimulated theoretical discussion on whether the policy of pursuing PTAs will have a malign or a benign impact on multilateralism. In the former case proliferation of PTAs may increase protection in global trade due to trade diversion effects thereby creating impediments to multilateral free trade. In the latter case the expansion of PTA membership could ultimately lead to non-discriminatory global free trade. At the core of this discussion is the question of how to explain the preference for PTA membership. While some economists view the expansion of PTA membership as exogenously determined participants of the Fourth Annual Workshop of the Network EU LDC Trade and Capital Relations also considered endogenous factors explaining increased PTA membership. This book offers a closer look at the motives of policy makers in both developed and developing countries to still adhere to PTAs notwithstanding the theoretical superiority of multilateralism and addresses the question of how to bring order into the world trading system. These issues are dealt with in 9 chapters by scholars from both the EU and LDCs. Each paper is discussed in terms of its policy relevance by a policy maker as well as by an academic specialized in the field.

Verdun,A. Tovias,2013-11-14 By examining the various policy subfields of European economic integration such as agriculture trade banking economic governance and sustainability this book offers a comprehensive and wide ranging analysis of developments that have taken place in the past five years aimed at exploring the path of economic integration in Europe

Global Economic Institutions Willem Molle,2003-08-28 This book critically examines global economic institutions It presents an accessible fluid history of globalization and explains how global public goods should be defined and how global economic institutions work It also looks at the effect that major organizations including the WTO IMF and UNEP have on areas such as finance the environment Governing the World Economy Willem Molle,2013-09-05 The major problems the world faces have increased since the turn of the millennium Recurrent storms on the financial markets have ravaged many countries poverty is still widespread notwithstanding decades of massive development aid the environment remains in acute jeopardy and the major world institutions have often reached an impasse in attempting to combat these difficulties The issues ask for rapid and consistent action by policy makers but the interests of international organizations such as the WTO World Bank and Kyoto protocol have become too diversified to come to multilateral agreements setting uniform rules and asking for strict compliance with these rules Alternative solutions are sought and development in the future is likely to be characterized by fuzzy and complex interactions between flexible groups of actors seeking agreements on the solutions for the most pressing new problems Progress will become rather unpredictable and will depend on time place and subject specific cases as well as convergence of interests This need not be only negative Flexible solutions have the advantage that they can be easily adapted in case the conditions change In this new book the follow up to his Global Economic Institutions Willem Molle maps out the unfolding of this process The Dhaka University Studies ,2015 Regional Integration and Economic Partnership Agreements Talitha Bertelsmann-Scott,Peter Draper,South African Institute of International Affairs,2006 Based on conference proceedings this book examines the dynamics of the European Union EU trade policy and the implications thereof for Southern Africa The latter s problems with both political and economic integration are not new but the process of negotiating Economic Partnership Agreements EPAs with the EU presents yet more challenges The initiation of trade talks between the EU and the members of the Africa Caribbean and Pacific ACP group of countries has brought to center stage Southern Africa s problems of multiple and overlapping memberships of different regional organisations Whereas many would argue that the EU should stand back and let the region try to solve its own regional integration problems before it engages as a region with external partners others feel that the EPA process is breathing new life into the search for solutions to Southern Africa s regional integration conundrum Publisher description <https://saiia.org.za/European-Integration-Deepening-and-Widening> Rolf J.
