New Critical Writings in Political Sociology Alan Scott, 2017-03-02 In the third and final volume of this series we examine the implications of the accelerating globalization process for the nation state Are globalization the rise of regional and international institutions and the international agreements on human rights actually reducing and transforming state sovereignty Clearly ethnic racial and religious identities remain salient but how do they correspond to intersect with and overflow continuous nation state spaces that are demarcated by legally recognized borders In what conditions do democratic state building projects actually enhance political civil and social rights and when do they tend to contribute to the consolidation of elite power Should democratic forces put their faith in a cosmopolitan vision of global citizenship especially when they tackle quintessentially international and transnational problems like peace aboriginal rights and the protection of the environment In this volume s collection of contemporary political sociologists key articles we present work that explores the exposure of the nation state and the post World War II world system to global forces

Participants in the International Legal System Jean d'Aspremont, 2011-04-20 The international legal system has weathered sweeping changes over the last decade as new participants have emerged International law making and law enforcement processes have become increasingly multi layered with unprecedented numbers of non State actors including individuals insurgents multinational corporations and even terrorist groups being involved This growth in the importance of non State actors at the law making and law enforcement levels has generated a lot of new scholarly studies on the topic However while it remains uncontested that non State actors are now playing an important role on the international plane albeit in very different ways international legal scholarship has remained riddled by controversy regarding the status of these new actors in international law This collection features contributions by renowned scholars each of whom focuses on a particular theory or tradition of international law a region an institutional regime or a particular subject matter and considers how that perspective impacts on our understanding of the role and status of non State actors The book takes a critical approach as it seeks to gauge the extent to which each conception and understanding of international law is instrumental in the perception of non State actors In doing so the volume provides a wide panorama of all the contemporary legal issues arising in connection with the growing role of non state actors in international law making and international law enforcement processes      Sociétés Transnationales Centre on Transnational Corporations (United Nations),1988
