Cooperative Forms of Transnational Corporation Activity Peter J. Buckley, John H. Dunning, 1994

International Business Peter Buckley, 2017-10-23 This book was published in 2003 Over the years the challenges of international business in organisation and culture have been one of the most intriguing issues facing managers Attempts at organisational innovation have tried to strike a balance between local markets responsiveness and global efficiency This book presents an overview of changing attitudes to the globalization of the firm and traces the increasing sophistication of management techniques necessary to cope with the increasing complexity of business world wide It contains readings on the management of international business from 1936 to 1998 Looking at managing abroad and the internationalism of firms including issues of appraising foreign investment opportunities the foreign investment decision process and the evolution of the multinational enterprise The operations and planning of the multinational firm are surveyed over time from early models of Headquarters and Subsidiary to global strategies The key issues of international strategic alliances and joint ventures are also examined concluding with approaches to forward looking international management

Technology Transfer Shastri Moonan, 2013-06-17 This study focuses on technology transfer in the steel mini mill industry It identifies two central issues how capacity is built and how demand is sustained developing a three dimensional perspective to bring into sharp focus the desirability and necessity of technology transfer The three dimensional perspective focuses on the changes in the marketplace for flat steel sheets the responsiveness and sensitivity to these market changes and applying the best available technology to obtain a high quality product Prior to this study technology transfer has been examined in a bivariate relationship namely how technology transfer contributed to the development process in developing countries and Newly Industrialized Countries NICs The framework formulated in this study showed that Japan was lagging behind all the steel producing countries because like the NICs it imported the physical and organizational technologies that fostered its prosperity Based on primary and secondary research this study revealed that high levels of operational efficiency and sophisticated product quality were achieved through continuous improvement culminating in Computer Integrated Manufacturing CIM consisting of Real Time Process Control On the other hand the research also revealed that China based the improvement of its steel industry on self reliance combined with judicious selection of foreign collaboration The theoretical underpinnings of the crucial issues in this study led to the development of an interactive model of technology transfer based upon stock and flow variables
