Multicultural Counselling A Reader:

Multicultural Counselling Stephen Palmer, 2001-11-30 The book contains comprehensive coverage of issues relating to multicultural counselling still current ten years after the first of the collected papers was published. The discussion points after each chapter give the whole book a text book feel which belies its more general significance as a professional. Raising cultural awareness and challenging assumptions this book will be essential reading. Stress News Race is a complex and sensitive subject which has a direct and significant bearing on counselling. Multicultural Counselling provides insights and provokes debate about the impact of race and ethnicity on counsellors their clients and the therapeutic process. Edited by Stephen Palmer this collection of 20 articles represents the multiplicity of issues raised by counselling in a multicultural society. It examines topics which affect all counsellors including the dynamics of mixed and same race counselling relationships and the dilemmas which confront counsellors in how to address issues related to racism which are raised in counselling. The book covers both theory and practice outlining different approaches to multicultural and transcultural counselling highlighting the racism implicit in some counselling theory and providing examples of multicultural counselling practice. The Reader also presents fresh perspectives on counselling from beyond the predominantly white Western culture in which it evolved and discussion issues at the end of each chapter further encourage the reader to take a critical and questioning approach to the subject. Multicultural Counselling brings to the fore the key issues involved in multicultural counselling and captures the full complexity of the subject.
