Adaptive Radiations of Neotropical Primates Marilyn A. Norconk, Alfred L. Rosenberger, Paul A. Garber, 2011-06-28

This collection of 29 papers grew out of a symposium entitled Setting the Future Agenda for Neotropical Primates The symposium was held at the Department of Zoological Research National Zoological Park Washington D C on February 26 27 1994 and was sponsored by the Wenner Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research Smithsonian Institution and Friends of the National Zoo We put the symposium together with two objectives to honor Warren G Kinzey for his contributions to the growing field of platyrrhine studies and to provide researchers who work in the Neotropics with the opportunity to discuss recent developments to identify areas of research that require additional study and especially to help guide the next generation of researchers The symposium provided the opportunity to recognize Warren as a mentor and collaborator to the contribution of the study of platyrrhines Contributions to the book were expanded in order to provide a more comprehensive view of platyrrhine evolution and ecology to emphasize the interdisciplinary nature of many of these studies and to highlight the central role that New World monkeys play in advancing primatology If this volume were to require major revisions after just one more decade of research that would be a fitting testament to Warren's enthusiasm and his drive to continually update the field with new ideas and methods Tributes to Warren and a list of his publications have been published elsewhere Norconk 1994 1996 Rosenberger 1994 1995

Primate Adaptation and Evolution Bozzano G Luisa, 2013-10-22 Primate Adaptation and Evolution is the only recent text published in this rapidly progressing field It provides you with an extensive current survey of the order Primates both living and fossil By combining information on primate anatomy ecology and behavior with the primate fossil record this book enables students to study primates from all epochs as a single viable group It surveys major primate radiations throughout 65 million years and provides equal treatment of both living and extinct species Presents a summary of the primate fossils Reviews primate evolution Provides an introduction to the primate anatomy Discusses the features that distinguish the living groups of primates Summarizes recent work on primate ecology

Food Acquisition and Processing in Primates David J. Chivers, Bernard A. Wood, Alan Bilsborough, 2013-03-09 This book results from a two day symposium and three day workshop held in Cambridge between March 22nd and March 26th 1982 and sponsored by the Primate Society of Great Britain and the Anatomical Society of Great Britain and Ireland More than 100 primatologists attended the symposium and some 35 were invited to participate in the workshop Speakers from France Germany the Netherlands South Africa and the U S A as well as the U K were invited to contribute In recent years feeling had strengthened that primatologists in Europe did not gather together sufficiently often Distinctive traditions in primatology have developed in Germany France the Netherlands Italy and the U K in particular and it was felt that attempts to blend them could only benefit primatology Furthermore studies of primate ecology behaviour anatomy physiology and evolution have reached the points where further advances depend on inter disciplinary collaboration It was resolved to arrange a regular series of round table discussions on primate biology in Europe at the biennial meeting of the German Society for Anthropology and Human Genetics in Heidelberg in September 1979 where Holger Preuschoft organised sessions on primate ecology and anatomy In June 1980 Michel Sakka convened a most effective working group in Paris to discuss cranial morphology and evolution In 1982 it was the turn of the U K
