Primatology, Ethics and Trauma Robert

Ingersoll, Antonina Anna Scarnà, 2023-02-23 Primatology Ethics and Trauma offers an analytical re examination of the research conducted into the linguistic abilities of the Oklahoma chimpanzees uncovering the historical reality of the research It has been 50 years since the first language experiments on chimpanzees Robert Ingersoll was one of the researchers from

1975 to 1983 He is well known for being one of the main carers and best friend of the chimpanzee Nim Chimpsky but there were other chimpanzees in the University of Oklahoma's Institute for Primate Studies including Washoe Moja Kelly Booe and Onan who were taught sign language in the quest to discover whether language is learned or innate in humans Antonina Anna Scarn's expertise in language acquisition and neuroscience offers a vehicle for critical evaluation of those studies Ingersoll and Scarn investigate how this research failed to address the emotional needs of the animals Research into trauma has made scientific advances since those studies It is time to consider the research from a different perspective examining the neglect and cruelty that was inflicted on those animals in the name of psychological science This book re-examines those cases addressing directly the suffering and traumatic experiences endured by the captive chimpanzees in particular the female chimpanzee Washoe and her resultant inability to be a competent mother This book discusses the unethical nature of the studies in the context of recent research on trauma and offers a specific and direct psychological message proposing to finally close the door on the language side of these chimpanzee studies This book is a novel and groundbreaking account It will be of interest to lay readers and academics alike Those working as research experimental and clinical psychologists will find this book of interest as will psychotherapists linguists anthropologists historians of science and primatologists as well as those involved in primate sanctuary and conservation

Living with Animals Erin McKenna, 2020-11-15 Living with Animals brings a pragmatist ecofeminist perspective to discussions around animal rights animal welfare and animal ethics to move the conversation beyond simple use or non-use decisions Erin McKenna uses a case study approach with select species to question how humans should live and interact with various animal beings through specific instances of such relationships Addressing standard topics such as the use of animals for food use for biomedical research use in entertainment use as companions use as captive specimens in zoos and use in hunting and ecotourism through a revolutionary pluralist and experimental approach McKenna provides an uncommonly nuanced account for complex relationships and changing circumstances Rather than seek absolute moral stands regarding human relationships with other animal beings and rather than trying to end such relationships altogether the book urges us to make existing relations better

Big History Cynthia Stokes Brown, 2012-11-06 This exciting saga crosses space and time to illustrate how humans born of stardust were shaped and how they in turn shaped the world we know today Publishers Weekly This book offers world history on a grand scale pulling back for a wider view and putting the relatively brief time span of human history in context After all our five thousand years of recorded civilization account for only about one millionth of the lifetime of our planet Kirkus Reviews Big History interweaves different disciplines of knowledge drawing on both the natural sciences and the human sciences to offer an all-encompassing account of history on Earth This new edition is more relevant than ever before as we increasingly grapple with accelerating rates of change and ultimately the legacy we will bequeath to future generations Here is a path-breaking portrait of our world from the birth of the universe from a single point the size of an atom to life on a twenty-first century
